What are the differences between Clustered and Unclustered Lookup?

The differences are explained in the below table:

Clustered Lookup	Unclustered Lookup
Clustered lookup performs an iterative and recursive read of the data from the source.	Unclustered lookup performs a single read from the source to get all the data in parallel in a single read operation.
Clustered lookup will use more resources and more time.	Unclustered lookup needs smaller resources.
Clustered lookup will return data more often and more slowly.	Unclustered lookup will return data less often and more quickly.
Clustered lookup returns all source segments.	Unclustered lookup returns only the source segment that is being accessed and the adjacent segments.
Supports multi-valued foreign keys (i.e. table for which some foreign conditions are not satisfied).	Does not support multi-valued foreign keys.

What is meant by active and passive transformation?

Active transformation is the one that writes the row of the table to the table.

- Change the content of some column transformed input and output. Example: Row transformation.
- Change the transformed knowledge by shifting content of columns, joining, creating transformed column transformation.
- Change the row type. Example: Update column to active because it flags the row for insert, delete, update or report.
