Dynamics Of Environmental Changes In Prehistoric India:

Dynamics Of Environmental Changes In Prehistoric India Ashoka K. Mishra, Ajay Pratap Singh, Pushp Lata Singh, 2006-01-01 The Routledge Handbook of the Bioarchaeology of Climate and Environmental Change Gwen Robbins Schug, 2020-10-27 This handbook examines human responses to climatic and environmental changes in the past and their impacts on disease patterns nutritional status migration and interpersonal violence Bioarchaeology the study of archaeological human skeletons provides direct evidence of the human experience of past climate and environmental changes and serves as an important complement to paleoclimate historical and archaeological approaches to changes we may expect with global warming Comprising 27 chapters from experts across a broad range of time periods and geographical regions this book addresses hypotheses about how climate and environmental changes impact human health and well being factors that promote resilience and circumstances that make migration or interpersonal violence a more likely outcome The volume highlights the potential relevance of bioarchaeological analysis to contemporary challenges by organizing the chapters into a framework outlined by the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals for 2030 Planning for a warmer world requires knowledge about humans as biological organisms with a deep connection to Earth's ecosystems balanced by an appreciation of how historical and socio cultural circumstances socioeconomic inequality degrees of urbanization community mobility and social institutions play a role in shaping long term outcomes for human communities Containing a wealth of nuanced perspectives about human environmental relations book is key reading for students of environmental archaeology bioarchaeology and the history of disease By providing a longer view of contemporary challenges it may also interest readers in public health public policy and planning Mapping a New Museum Laura Osorio Sunnucks, Jago Cooper, 2021-12-20 Mapping a New Museum seeks to rethink the museum's role in today's politically conscious world Presenting a selection of innovative projects that have taken place in Latin America over the last year the book begins to map out possibilities for the future of the global museum The projects featured within the pages of this book were all supported by The Santo Domingo Centre of Excellence for Latin American Research SDCELAR at the British Museum BM with the aim of making the BM's Latin American collections meaningful to communities in the region and others worldwide These projects illustrate how communities manage cultural heritage and taken together they suggest that there is also no all encompassing counter narrative that can be used to decolonise museums Reflecting on and experimenting with the ways that research happens within museum collections the interdisciplinary collaborations described within these pages have used collections to tell stories that destabilise societal assumptions whilst also proactively seeking out that which has historically been overlooked The result is the book argues a research environment that challenges intellectual orthodoxy and values critical and alternative forms of knowledge Mapping a New Museum contains English and Spanish versions of every chapter which enables the book to put critical stress on the self referentiality of Anglophone literature in the field of museum anthropology

The book will be essential reading for students scholars and museum practitioners working around the world The Indian National Bibliography B. S. Kesavan,2011-12 Indian National Bibliography ,2011-07 Environmental Sustainability from the Himalayas to the Oceans Shikui Dong,Jayanta Bandyopadhyay,Sanjay Chaturvedi,2017-01-23 The book is written in the backdrop of the environmental impacts of and future requirements from the natural environment for rapid economic growth that has characterized recent economic history of China and India especially over the past few decades The environmental impacts of such rapid economic changes have been more frequently than otherwise degrading in character Environmental impacts of economic activities create degraded natural ecosystems by over utilization of nature s provisioning ecosystem services from Himalaya to the Ocean as well by the use of the natural environment as sink for dumping of unmarketable products or unused inputs of economic activities Such processes affect wide range of ecosystem processes on which the natural environment including human population depend on Critical perspectives cast by various chapters in this book draw attention to the various ways in which space and power interact to produce diverse geographies of sustainability in a globalizing world They also address the questions such as who decides what kind of a spatial arrangement of political power is needed for sustaining the environment Who stands to gain or lose what when where and why from certain geographical areas being demarcated as ecologically unique fragile and vulnerable environments Whose needs and values are being catered to by a given ecosystem service What is the scope for critical inquiry into the ways in which the environment is imagined represented and resisted in both geopolitical struggles and everyday life The book provides insights to both academics from diverse disciplines and policy makers civil society actors interested in mutual exchange of knowledge between China and India Walking with the Unicorn: Social Organization and Material Culture in Ancient South Asia Dennys Frenez,Gregg M. Jamison,Randall W. Law,Massimo Vidale,Richard H. Meadow,2018-08-13 This volume a compilation of original papers written to celebrate the outstanding contributions of Jonathan Mark Kenoyer to the archaeology of South Asia over the past forty years highlights recent developments in the archaeological research of ancient South Asia with specific reference to the Indus Civilization Environmental Change and Human Adaptation in the Ancient American Southwest David Elmond Doyel,Jeffrey S. Dean,2006 This volume contains a varied and instructive set of studies of human behavioral adaptation to environmental change in the ancient Southwest making significant contributions to southwestern prehistory settlement pattern studies agriculture behavioral ecology paleo environmental reconstruction and statistical and computer aided modeling Cultural Landscapes and Environmental Change Lesley Head,2017-09-25 Cultural landscapes are usually understood within physical geography as those transformed by human action As human influence on the earth increases advances in palaeocological reconstruction have also allowed for new interpretations of the evidence for the earliest human impacts on the environment It is essential that such evidence is examined in the context of modern trends in social sciences and humanities This stimulating new book argues that convergence of the two approaches can provide a more holistic understanding of long term physical and human processes

Split into two major sections this book attempts to bridge the gap between the sciences and humanities The first section provides an analysis of the methodological tools employed in examining processes of environmental change Empirical research in the fields of palaeology and Quaternary studies is combined with the latest theoretical views of nature and landscape occurring in cultural geography archaeology and anthropology The author examines the way in which environmental management decisions are made The book then moves on to discuss the relevance of this perspective to contemporary issues through a wide variety of international case studies including World Heritage protection landscape preservation indigenous people and cultural tourism

Prehistoric Intensive Agriculture in the Tropics Ian S. Farrington, 1985 This volume is part of a two volume set ISBN 9781407391151 Volume I ISBN 9781407391168 Volume II ISBN 9780860543015 Volume set The Phase I Archeological Research Program for the Knife River Indian Villages National Historic Site: Analysis of the physical remains Thomas David Thiessen, 1993 The Evolution of Human Populations in Arabia Michael D. Petraglia, Jeffrey I. Rose, 2009-11-27 The romantic landscapes and exotic cultures of Arabia have long captured the interests of both academics and the general public alike The wide array and incredible variety of environments found across the Arabian peninsula are truly dramatic tropical coastal plains are found bordering up against barren sandy deserts high mountain plateaus are deeply incised by ancient river courses As the birthplace of Islam the recent history of the region is well documented and thoroughly studied However legendary explorers such as T E Lawrence Wilfred Thesiger and St John Philby discovered hints of a much deeper past during their travels across the subcontinent Drawn to Arabia by the magnificent solitude of its vast sand seas these intrepid adventurers learned from the Bedouin how to penetrate its deserts and returned with stirring accounts of lost civilizations among the wind swept dunes We now know that prior to recorded history Arabia housed countless peoples living a variety of lifestyles including some of the world's earliest pastoralist communities of incipient farmers fishermen dubbed the Ichthyophagi by ancient Greek geographers and Paleolithic big game hunters who were among the first humans to depart their ancestral homeland in Africa In fact some archaeological investigations indicate that Arabia was inhabited by early hominins extending far back into the Early Pleistocene perhaps even into the Late Pliocene
