Wu,2018-03-28 This book examines emerging theories frameworks and applications of global marketing for the 21st century

It highlights how global marketing is changing in a globalized and digital economy that is fast increasing in complexity and uncertainty. The traditional approach to global marketing is no longer sufficient to address the emerging issues in global markets. Global companies need to challenge traditional assumptions in global marketing in an era of shifting political, cultural, economic, and technological changes. They need to take a fresh look at the contemporary threats and opportunities in markets, institutions, and technology and how they affect entry and expansion strategies through careful recalibration of the marketing mix. This book offers new insights for global marketing that addresses these issues. This book should be an ideal resource to both academic scholars and reflective practitioners globally such as CEOs and chief marketing officers as well as government officials and policy makers interested in formulating strategies and policies for global marketing activities in the face of a globalized and digitized economy. This well-crafted research volume is an excellent addition to the growing literature on new trends in international marketing. The authors present the latest insight on the impact of phenomena such as cross-border e-commerce and digital markets and they discuss new tools for political risk assessment, international branding, and more broadly, the reconfiguring of marketing mix strategies. A powerful reminder that the new global market remains a rugged landscape.

Alain Verbeke, McCaig Research Chair in Management and Editor in Chief, Journal of International Business Studies, University of Calgary, Canada. Emerging trends in institutions, markets, and societies along with new technological advances are redefining the scope and strategy in global marketing. Professors Agarwal and Wu have assembled a remarkable collection of cutting-edge topics and issues that capture the shifting paradigm and contemporary developments in the global marketing field. This is an informative and timely resource that makes a valuable contribution useful for both scholars and business practitioners of global marketing.

Constantine S. Katsikeas, Arnold Ziff Endowed Research Chair in Marketing, International Management, Editor in Chief, Journal of International Marketing, University of Leeds, UK. This book presents new and cutting-edge thinking at a time when the traditional views of international marketing need to be scrapped. Convergence forces are creating new opportunities as well as threats on a daily basis, and marketing practitioners as well as scholars must be forewarned as well as forearmed on how to deal with these changes. The real growth is coming from the emerging nations, and the theories that provided sufficient insights ten years ago have been completely outmoded by the ever-accelerating rate of innovation and technological change as well as the pressures to address the needs of all of the firm's relevant stakeholders. The strategic insights provided here are absolutely invaluable. Don't miss an opportunity to read this book.

Consumer Behavior on Online Grocery Shopping Adoption. A Quantitative Analysis in the Context of the COVID-19 Pandemic, Contrasting the Markets of Peru and Germany José Alonso Pisfil Manchego, 2023-03-13. Master's Thesis from the year 2022 in the subject Business economics. Market research, grade 1-3. University of Applied Sciences, Munich. Language: English. Abstract: The COVID

19 pandemic raised the demand for online food shopping in traditional Peru and Germany This urged an in depth examination since consumer attitudes in specific cultural contexts had received little attention Thus this research aims to ascertain the factors that significantly influence Germans and Peruvians intention to use online grocery shopping as well as to identify significant differences between the two countries Two particular research topics serve as the framework for this study which are as follows Are there significant differences in the usage of online grocery shopping between Germans and Peruvians during the COVID 19 pandemic What factors significantly influence Germans and Peruvians online grocery shopping usage during the COVID 19 pandemic As indicated by both research questions this study s primary emphasis is on online grocery shopping behavior during the COVID 19 pandemic that peaked one year ago in the year 2020 yet has persisted worldwide Therefore this study focuses only on empirical data from the COVID 19 outbreak since online grocery shopping in both nations was not a significant event before the pandemic Furthermore there was no previous scientific research on online grocery shopping s behavior in Peruvian literature preventing comparison between the two countries Given that the pandemic s breakout aided in the partial adoption of online grocery shopping in both nations the researcher judged it appropriate to frame both research questions exclusively in terms of the COVID 19 pandemic to capture better the influence of the digital transition that was experienced in 2020
