Designing and Implementing Multimodal Curricula and Programs J. C. Lee, Santosh Khadka, 2018-01-19 This volume presents a comprehensive overview of multimodal approaches to curriculum and programmatic implementation across a diverse range of teaching environments and across geographic and cultural boundaries. Featuring contributions from scholars within and across both disciplines, the book examines the ways in which new technologies link to expanding definitions of literacy and building on this how multimodal approaches might most effectively address the unique opportunities and challenges instructors face in contemporary classrooms and professional development programs. Chapters draw on case studies from both existing scholarship and findings from the authors' own experiences in practice, including examples from writing rhetoric and composition courses, open online learning courses, and interdisciplinary faculty training programs. The final section of the book showcases how the conversation might be further extended to address increasingly multilingual classrooms by exploring how multimodality has been implemented in transnational settings. Engaging with key questions at the intersection of programmatic and curricular development and multimodal studies, this book is a fundamental resource for graduate students and scholars in multimodality, rhetoric studies, language education, applied linguistics, and communication studies.

The New Learning Commons where Learners Win!
David V. Loertscher, Carol Koechlin, Sandi Zwaan, 2008. Examines the function and role of school libraries and computer labs. Considers how these resources are used differently than intended because they have been organization based rather than client based.

Blogs, Wikis, Podcasts, and Other Powerful Web Tools for Classrooms
Will Richardson, 2006-03-13. We need a solid book explaining and illustrating and letting teachers know about these powerful tools. This book meets the need in an awesome way.

Mike Muir, Director, Maine Center for Meaningful Engaged Learning. This author is a gem. It startles me to be pulled so happily through a text about these new Web tools in the context of good literacy instruction.

Gary Graves, Senior Research and Evaluation Advisor, Technology in Education, Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory. This book brings teachers a bold vision and on the ground Monday morning practicality. It will move educators to think differently about technology's potential for strengthening students' critical thinking, writing, reflection, and interactive learning.

Will Richardson demystifies words like blog, wiki, and aggregator, making classroom technology an easily accessible component of classroom research, writing, and learning. This guide demonstrates how Web tools can generate exciting new learning formats and explains how to apply these tools in the classroom to engage all students in a new world of synchronous information feeds and interactive learning. With detailed, simple explanations, definitions, and how-tos, critical information on Internet safety, and helpful links, this exciting book opens an immense toolbox with specific teaching applications for:

- o Web logs, the most widely adopted tool of the read/write Web
- o Wikis, a collaborative Web space for sharing published content
- o Rich Site Summary (RSS) feeding specific content into the classroom
- o Aggregators collecting content generated via the RSS feed
- o Social bookmarking, archiving specific Web addresses
- o Online photo galleries

This book makes it possible for anyone, no matter how inexperienced, to harness this amazing technology for the classroom today.
