Cost Management of Construction Projects Donald

Towey, 2013-06-12 The cost manager quantity surveyor plays a pivotal role in the financial and contract management of construction projects although the exact nature of the service they provide depends on the project employer's terms of engagement. This can mean acting as consultant in a range of roles including cost and advisory services for budget setting to initiate a project, cost management through the design and construction phases, contract administration and acting as the client side project manager to oversee the entire building process. Cost Management of Construction Projects focusses on the cost manager quantity surveyor engaged by the project client and discusses key elements that help drive project success including measurement based on the New Rules of Measurement published by RICS, procurement, cost planning, contract administration and project cost management. With examples it provides a thorough guide to the role in the workplace and in the field, directly addressing the day to day situations faced by the cost manager quantity surveyor. Donald Towey MRICS has extensive experience of the construction industry. His experience began as an estimator with a glass glazing contractor in Manchester. Following a number of positions with UK contractors he relocated to Australia and has worked with a number of developers and main contractors as well as doing freelance work. He is currently working in contracts management in Sydney.

A Practical Research Process for Developing a Sustainable Built Environment in Emerging Economies Andrew Ebekozien, Clinton Ohis Aigbavboa, Wellington Didibhuku Thwala, 2025-02-19 A Practical Research Process for Developing a Sustainable Built Environment in Emerging Economies aims to fill the dearth of practical research guidance and reference material with specific focus on the built environment in developing countries. Global policy agendas such as Agenda 2030, the SDGs highlight the importance and growth of research and knowledge from emerging nations who are increasingly contributing to research that is critical for development and advancement. The role of built environment practitioners will continue to evolve by building on the sound foundations laid down by the professions and by exploiting to the full the new technologies available to us through conducting innovative research but more guidance on the research process is necessary to ensure the integrity and quality of the output. This book has been structured so that each chapter is largely free standing allowing the reader, undergraduate, postgraduate or practitioner to reference the material with ease. It aims to provide practical guidance on conducting research and on writing a dissertation or report and begins by considering the general research background in a built environment context. It then covers research ethics before moving on to discuss the importance of selecting the right research topic and title and writing a clear abstract. The chapters then cover introducing a research project and the authors include a section on the problem statement, research questions, aims and objectives, research gaps and motivations for the study. The book goes on to cover the literature review, theoretical and conceptual frameworks, the various types of methodological approaches and when to apply them. The findings section, discussion of the results and the study's implications are then discussed before the final chapters cover the conclusion and recommendations.

The book provides a useful reference for higher education students graduates postgraduates and practitioners engaged in all aspects of construction and built environment research
