National E Procurement Project Cosmoone:

Major Companies of Europe, 1994 E-Government Procurement Implementation Dr Panda (Prabir), G. P. Sahu, Pramod Gupta, 2014

The benefits of e procurement implementation for public procurement is a well research area The adoption of e procurement results in cost savings to exchequer by increasing operational efficiency transparency competition among bidders and organizational effectiveness through automation of manual processes The review of contemporary research literature brings out procurement process engineering change management and top management support as some of the critical success factors for e procurement project implementation It is also well known that NeGP project was launched in 2006 with e Procurement as integrated Mission Mode Project A recent review of the e procurement implementation by DIT Ministry of Commn IT brought out that the progress in this area has been dismal Barring few states like Andhra Pradesh Chhattisgarh etc the project has not taken off This lack of progress when seen in the light of rampant corruption in India becomes a cause of serious concern In this backdrop we undertook study of various statues rules and government order governing public procurement in India In order to develop better understanding of the research domain we undertook template analysis of successful e procurement implementation by State Governments of Andhra Pradesh and Chhattisgarh In addition we interacted with some of the stakeholders to elicit their views on how a legal framework could help in smoother and faster roll out of e procurement projects in public sector The research methodology followed included analysis based on an elaborate study of various government policies and guidelines and their impact Fact findings are provided through journal articles information hosted on government portals statues rules regulations and government resolutions relating to e procurement and government purchasing The study concludes that since Procurement doesn t figure in either State List or in Concurrent List therefore Indian Parliament can make law on the subject for the entire country However no separate law governing public procurement has been enacted in India Finally the paper brings out broad contours of a modal procurement law that would expedite the e procurement implementation in India in an optimal manner

E-Procurement Implementation Dr Panda (Prabir), G. P. Sahu, 2014

Twenty first century has seen the migration of many governance functions and services to the Internet The terms like e governance and m governance are no longer unfamiliar words but are a political reality The adoption of e procurement by government entities to optimize and economize public procurements has been the buzzword of transparent governance In fact e procurement has been touted as the panacea for issues like corruption and bureaucratic red tapism Literature is replete with studies which underline numerous benefits of migration of procurement functions to the Internet However e Government Procurement e GP has not taken off in India though it is an integrated mission mode project as a part of the

National e Governance Project NeGP launched by the Government of India in 2006 A recent review of the e procurement implementation by the Government of India brought out that the progress of e procurement project implementation has been dismal Against this backdrop the study aims to identify the Critical Success Factors CSF for e procurement project implementation The research methodology followed included a detailed analysis of e procurement CSFs reported in research literature and qualitative study of a few successful e procurement implementations in India The study concludes that the existing CSFs and their study models do not take the cultural and project context dimensions into account Therefore the existing body of knowledge does not aid managerial decision making Finally the paper brings out research gaps and suggests directions for future research

Moving Procurement Systems to the Internet Tony Davila,Mahendra Gupta,Richard J. Palmer,2014 This paper reports the results of a research project addressing the current state of e procurement technologies It analyzes which companies are moving fast into these technologies how experimentation is taking place to learn about the business opportunities that may emerge through these technologies the risks and benefits associated with them and the expected evolution of e procurement technologies in the near future Predictions few years back indicated that e procurement technologies would grow exponentially over the first half of the decade However these expectations have not been met Current e procurement technologies are in their developmental infancy and a dominant design is still unavailable The results of our survey indicates that the final equilibrium may include several technologies each one serving a different segment of the market This multiplicity of solutions is likely to further delay the transition of the industry to its growth stage Companies are approaching e procurement technologies with very different strategies based upon the perceived risks and benefits associated with the technology and their competitive position and environment We identify two main types of companies The first type is moving aggressively to adopt e procurement technologies frequently experimenting with various solutions The second type adopts a more conservative strategy by selectively experimenting typically with one technology This latter group relies on these limited experiences to provide the capabilities to move quickly into the technology as a dominant design emerges The survey results suggest that e procurement technologies will become an important part of supply chain management and that the rate of adoption will accelerate as aggressive adopters share their experiences and perceptions of low risk

State-of-art and Development Prospects of E-procurement in the Italian Engineering & Contracting Sector Enrico Cagno,Augusto Di Giulio,Paolo Trucco,2004 This paper examines the state of the art and development prospects of using e procurement for projects related to the engineering and contracting E C sector in Italy through the results of a study carried out during 2001 2002 in collaboration with ANIMP Italian Association of Industrial Plant Engineering The companies included in the sample account for 75% of the revenue generated in the sector valued at more than 17 billion Given the globalized reference market and the internationalization of the E C companies the results of the study also provide a sound description of the sector s behavior worldwide Although there are substantial differences between large and medium small companies it is evident that a strong information technology IT culture has developed at all corporate levels and integrated into working processes albeit mainly with simpler applications i e e mail Web sites etc Furthermore little attention is paid to co design and co engineering systems meaning that present e procurement solutions are limited to the purchase of project materials and systems with low engineering content The potential savings in adopting e procurement solutions are estimated to be worth a 7 10% reduction in overall project purchasing costs This represents at least the 60% of the company annual revenue Nevertheless the study highlights ongoing and planned investments that are under focused pointing to unconsolidated e business strategies The advent of e procurement is therefore likely to lead to profound restructuring of operational practice and the management of internal processes generating challenges in company culture and personnel training
