Key Concept: Genetic Code and Biotechnology	Dialectical Journal
Text Scientists have been trying to understand the genetic code for decades. They have found that the code is made up of three-letter words called codons. Each codon codes for a specific amino acid. The genetic code is universal, meaning that all life on Earth uses the same code. This is one of the most amazing facts of biology. It shows that all life is connected in a way that we are only beginning to understand. (pg. 10)	Personal Response: I find it very interesting that the genetic code is universal. It's amazing that all life on Earth uses the same code. This shows that all life is connected in a way that we are only beginning to understand. I think it's also interesting that the genetic code is made up of three-letter words. It's like a simple code that can be used to create all the different proteins in the body. I think it's a really cool fact that the genetic code is universal. It's something that we don't think about often, but it's really important. I think it's a really cool fact that the genetic code is universal. It's something that we don't think about often, but it's really important. (pg. 10)
Text Henrietta Lacks' immortal cells, known as HeLa cells, have revolutionized biology. According to the book, these cells have been used in countless experiments and have helped scientists understand many things about the human body. The cells are so special that they have been used to create vaccines, study cancer, and even to help us understand how the brain works. The cells are a true miracle of science. (pg. 15)	Personal Response: The book makes me think about the ethical implications of using immortal cells. It's amazing that these cells have been used in so many ways, but it's also a bit disturbing to think about the fact that they were taken from a woman without her consent. I think it's important to think about the ethical implications of using immortal cells. It's a really interesting fact that the cells have been used in so many ways. I think it's a really cool fact that the cells have been used in so many ways. (pg. 15)
