International Organizations under Pressure Klaus Dingwerth, Antonia Witt, Ina Lehmann, Ellen Reichel, Tobias Weise, 2019-03-21 International organizations like the United Nations the International Monetary Fund or the European Union are a defining feature of contemporary world politics In recent years many of them have also become heavily politicized In this book we examine how the norms and values that underpin the evaluations of international organizations have changed over the past 50 years Looking at five organizations in depth we observe two major trends Taken together both trends make the legitimization of international organizations more challenging today First people based legitimacy standards are on the rise international organizations are increasingly asked to demonstrate not only what they do for their member states but also for the people living in these states Second procedural legitimacy standards gain ground international organizations are increasingly evaluated not only based on what they accomplish but also based on how they arrive at decisions manage themselves or coordinate with other organizations in the field In sum the study thus documents how the list of expectations international organizations need to fulfil to count as legitimate has expanded over time The sources of this expansion are manifold Among others they include the politicization of expanded international authority and the rise of non state actors as new audiences from which international organizations seek legitimacy UN Convention Against Transnational Organized Crime Andreas Schloenhardt, Francesco Calderoni, Joseph Lelliott, Bettina Weißer, 2023 This book is an article by article commentary on the UN Convention Against Transnational Organized Crime and its three Protocols on Trafficking in Persons and Smuggling of Migrants It analyses the nature of transnational organized crime and examines how the Convention has been implemented since it came into force in 2003 Gender, Nutrition, and the Human Right to Adequate Food Anne C. Bellows, Flavio L.S. Valente, Stefanie Lemke, María Daniela Núñez Burbano de Lara, 2015-12-07 This book introduces the human right to adequate food and nutrition as evolving concept and identifies two structural disconnects fueling food insecurity for a billion people and disproportionately affecting women children and rural food producers the separation of women s rights from their right to adequate food and nutrition and the fragmented attention to food as commodity and the medicalization of nutritional health Three conditions arising from these disconnects are discussed structural violence and discrimination frustrating the realization of women s human rights as well as their private and public contributions to food and nutrition security for all many women s experience of their and their children s simultaneously independent and intertwined subjectivities during pregnancy and breastfeeding being poorly understood in human rights law and abused by poorly regulated food and nutrition industry marketing practices and the neoliberal economic system s

interference both with the autonomy and self determination of women and their communities and with the strengthening of sustainable diets based on democratically governed local food systems The book calls for a social movement led reconceptualization of the right to adequate food toward incorporating gender women s rights and nutrition based on the food sovereignty framework
