Teachers of College Writing is built on the premise that teaching writing is not about mastering a single best practice but instead requires being responsive to a series of tradeoffs and paradoxes. Ideal for new TAs and experienced professors alike, it helps teachers navigate complex choices about course design, assessment, even professional growth, all within the context of trends in the field, institutional expectations, and their evolving pedagogical philosophies. Collaborating(,) Literature(,) and Composition Frank Gaughan, Peter H. Khost, 2007. The disciplines of English and composition seem particularly prone to crisis-driven proclamations: our kids don't read the great works or they don't read at all or they can't write. Crisis talk notwithstanding, educators are left to theorize and practice ways to teach reading and writing with intelligence, compassion, and integrity. However, it often seems that theoretical formulations do not sufficiently explain their practicable applications, and practicable discussions too rarely rise above the level of swapping recipes, sharing assignments that work well in one context but may not in another. Therefore, the editors of this volume submit this collection of essays that strives to harmonize the all-too-often discordant qualities of theory and practice. Each co-authored essay illustrates and analyzes various classroom-based strategies for productive collaboration between literature and composition. This collection envisions a reciprocal to composing literature: literaturing composition, which entails living through literature as Louise Rosenblatt has it. This process regards the literary text as a medium for creative action, so that one reads not to criticize so much as to imagine new compositional possibilities. The eight essays in this collection are divided into four sections which span topics that include textuality and critical pedagogy, argumentation and hybrid genres, student engagement and popular culture, and materiality and assessment.

Publisher's website: Content Inc.: How Entrepreneurs Use Content to Build Massive Audiences and Create Radically Successful Businesses Joe Pulizzi, 2015-09-04. Instead of throwing money away and sucking up to A-listers, now there is a better way to promote your business. It's called content marketing, and this book is a great way to master this new technique. Guy Kawasaki, Chief evangelist of Canva and author of The Art of the Start 2.0: How do you take the maximum amount of risk out of starting a business? Joe Pulizzi shows us: Fascinate your audience, then turn them into loyal fans. Content Inc. shows you how. Use it as your roadmap to startup success. Sally Hogshead, New York Times and Wall Street Journal bestselling author, How the World Sees You: If you're serious about turning content into a business, this is the most detailed, honest, and useful book ever written. Jay Baer, New York Times bestselling author of Youtility: The approach to business taught all over the world is to create a product and then spend a bunch of money to market and sell it. Joe outlines a radically new way to succeed in business: Develop your audience first by creating content that draws people in, and then watch your business sell itself. David Meerman Scott, bestselling author of ten books including The New Rules of Sales and Service: The digital age has fundamentally reshaped the cost curve for entrepreneurs. Joe describes the formula for developing a purpose-driven business that connects with an engaged and loyal audience around content. With brand voice and audience building, and monetizing a business is easy. Julie Fleischer, Sr. Director, Data Content Media, Kraft Foods: What if you launched
