

How does feminist criticism open up meaning in "Mrs Midas." Write an analysis of the poem including reference to the critical anthology to support your interpretation. "Mrs Midas" is a revisionism version from the female perspective of King Midas' story, an ancient Greek myth about a man who could turn everything to gold with a touch. This poem explores the sadness Mrs Midas feels in regards to not being able to feel the touch of her husband to the anguish, annoyance and disgust she has for him about his greediness. This poem is very interesting for feminist critics as there are both arguments for Mrs Midas being a strong willed person that does not let him ruin her life as she runs away and lives without him. However there is another reading that her husband controls her emotion and all she longs for is a loving husband. Right from the beginning the voice is of Mrs Midas who retells the story from her point of view. This would interest feminist critics as in literature women are sometimes voiceless or only heard behind the men however it is clear Mrs Midas has the control and is telling her story; through her humour and metaphor we are able to understand the breakdown of her marriage as well as the idea that "wealth isn't everything" in a different way that King Midas' story told this idea.

Secondly, it may be seen that Mrs Midas is challenging society's demand of "feminine behavior" as Simone de Beauvoir would put it as it she "poured a glass of wine this action shows a lack of interest in the idea that women are not meant to be drinkers. The way the poem is introduced so casually "it was late September. I'd just poured a glass of wine..." gives the impression that Mrs Midas is a woman who is not bound by traditional gender roles and is asserting her independence and agency. This is a significant departure from the traditional female role of being a passive and obedient wife. The casual introduction of the poem suggests that Mrs Midas is a woman who is comfortable with her own choices and is not concerned with societal expectations. This is a key element of feminist criticism, as it seeks to challenge and subvert traditional gender roles and expectations.

The poem also explores the theme of wealth and its impact on relationships. Mrs Midas's husband, King Midas, is a man who has become wealthy through his ability to turn things into gold. However, this wealth has led to his downfall, as he has become obsessed with gold and has lost touch with reality. Mrs Midas's perspective on her husband's greediness is a key element of the poem, as it highlights the destructive nature of wealth and the loss of humanity that can result. This is a common theme in feminist criticism, as it seeks to challenge the idea that wealth and power are the ultimate goals of life. Instead, it emphasizes the importance of human connection and the value of a simple life.

The poem is a powerful exploration of the female perspective on the King Midas story. It challenges traditional gender roles and expectations, and explores the theme of wealth and its impact on relationships. Through her humour and metaphor, Mrs Midas tells her story and offers a new perspective on the myth. This is a key element of feminist criticism, as it seeks to challenge and subvert traditional gender roles and expectations.

Posting the Male Daniel Lea, Berthold Schoene-Harwood, 2003 The essays collected in Posting the Male examine representations of masculinity in post war and contemporary British literature focussing on the works of writers as diverse as John Osborne Joe Orton James Kelman Ian Rankin Carol Ann Duffy Alan Hollinghurst Ian McEwan Graham Swift and Jackie Kay The collection seeks to capture the current historical moment of crisis at which masculinity loses its universal transparency and becomes visible as a performative gender construct Rather than denoting just one fixed polarised point on a hierarchised axis of strictly segregated gender binaries masculinity is revealed to oscillate within a virtually limitless spectrum of gender identities characterised not by purity and self containment but by difference and alterity As the contributors demonstrate rather than a gender in crisis millennial manhood is a gender in transition Patriarchal strategies of man making are gradually being replaced by less exclusionary patterns of self identification inspired by feminism Men have begun to recognise themselves as gendered beings and as a result masculinity has been set in motion
