- Electron-electron interactions: the electron screening

The phenomenon of screening is one of the simplest and most important manifestations of electron-electron interactions. We consider here only screening in a free electron gas. Screening is the damping of electric fields caused by the presence of mobile charge carriers. It is a very important behavior of charge-carrying fluids, such as ionized gases (classical plasmas), electrolytes, and charge carriers in electronic conductors (semiconductors, metals).

The long-range effects due to the $1/r^2$ dependence of the Coulomb force are suppressed by the flow of particles in response to electric fields. This flow reduces the effective interaction between particles to a short-range "screened" Coulomb interaction.

Every charge of the fluid composed of moving electrons repels other electrons creating a small region around itself in which there are fewer electrons. This region can be treated as a positively charged "screening hole"
