Automata and Computability

The background image shows a close-up of an industrial robotic arm, colored in a metallic orange-brown, positioned over a production line. The arm is equipped with a precision tool, likely a soldering iron or a component placer, and is in the process of working on a series of printed circuit boards (PCBs) that are laid out on a conveyor belt. The scene is set in a factory environment, with blurred machinery and lights in the background, creating a sense of a busy, automated manufacturing process.
