winning and bestselling author of Atonement Ian McEwan's acclaimed novel Saturday follows an ordinary man through a single day whose high promise gradually turns nightmarish. Saturday February 15 2003 Henry Perowne a successful neurosurgeon stands at his bedroom window before dawn and watches a plane ablaze with fire like a meteor arcing across the London sky. Over the course of the following day unease gathers about Perowne as he moves among hundreds of thousands of anti-war protestors who've taken to the streets in the aftermath of 9/11. A minor car accident brings him into confrontation with Baxter a fidgety aggressive man who to Perowne's professional eye appears to be profoundly unwell. But it is not until Baxter makes a sudden appearance at the Perowne family home that Henry's earlier fears seem about to be realized. A book of great maturity beautifully alive to the fragility of happiness and all forms of violence. Everyone should read Saturday. Financial Times

The Routledge Companion to Theatre-Fiction Graham Wolfe, 2023-11-14 Novelists have long been attracted to theatre. Some have pursued success on the stage but many have sought to combine these worlds entering theatre through their fiction setting stages on their novels pages and casting actors directors and playwrights as their protagonists. The Routledge Companion to Theatre Fiction has convened an international community of scholars to explore the remarkable array of novelists from many eras and parts of the world who have created fiction from the stuff of theatre asking what happens to theatre on the pages of novels and what happens to novels when they collaborate with theatre. From J.W. Goethe to Louisa May Alcott Mikhail Bulgakov Virginia Woolf and Margaret Atwood some of history's most influential novelists have written theatre fiction and this Companion discusses many of these figures from new angles. But it also spotlights writers who have received less critical attention such as Dorothy Leighton Agustín de Rojas Villandrando Ronald Firbank Syed Mustafa Siraj Li Yu and Vicente Blasco Ibañez bringing their work into conversation with a vital field. A valuable resource for students scholars and admirers of both theatre and novels. The Routledge Companion to Theatre Fiction offers a wealth of new perspectives on topics of increasing critical concern including intermediality theatricality antitheatricality mimesis diegesis and performativity.

Guilt in Ian McEwan's "Atonement" and Joe Wright's film adaptation Carmen Odimba, 2015-04-30 Seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject Cultural Studies Basics and Definitions grade 3.0 Johannes Gutenberg University Mainz Department of British Irish Studies Translation Studies course Seminar Transferring Translating Media Novels to Film Ian McEwan's Atonement language English abstract Atonement the novel by Ian McEwan published in 2001 is qualified by many critics as a wartime love story. It is an interpretation that suits the glamorous criteria needed by the public and provided by the media nowadays. This interpretation however solely focuses on the characters of Cecilia and Robbie and forgets the important part that Briony or her writing process play in the novel and Joe Wright's film. A complete reading of Atonement should include a study of the title and its implications in the story. We will start by analyzing the meaning of the word atonement. The choice of this title has a special significance for the whole novel and should lead us readers and spectators to understand its message to know whether the spirit of the novel has been respected by the film maker is a question to which we will also answer briefly The tragic event that happened in Part One of the novel could never have taken place in a more opened social environment With other codifications more courage and less things left unsaid the story would have been different We will examine some of the taboos that played an important role in the shaping of Atonement s characters The notion of guilt is very present in the novel thus it will be in relation to atonement the central focus of this paper We will consider the main characters i e Briony Robbie Cecilia Lola and Paul Marshall and try to evaluate the degree to which each one of them is guilty feels guilty and is willing to atone for his sins The last part of the paper will be essentially dedicated to the film to Joe Wright s interpretation of the concepts we named above Considering our paper s subject was it a good or a bad adaptation
