Narrative as Virtual Reality 2 Marie-Laure Ryan, 2015-12-01 Rethinking textuality mimesis and the cognitive processing of texts in light of new modes of artistic world construction Winner of the Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Comparative Literary Studies from the Modern Language Association of America Is there a significant difference between engagement with a game and engagement with a movie or novel Can interactivity contribute to immersion or is there a trade off between the immersive world aspect of texts and their interactive game dimension As Marie-Laure Ryan demonstrates in Narrative as Virtual Reality 2 the questions raised by the new interactive technologies have their precursors and echoes in pre-electronic literary and artistic traditions Approaching the idea of virtual reality as a metaphor for total art Ryan applies the concepts of immersion and interactivity to develop a phenomenology of narrative experience that encompasses reading watching and playing The book weighs traditional literary narratives against the new textual genres made possible by the electronic revolution of the past thirty years including hypertext electronic poetry interactive drama digital installation art computer games and multi-user online worlds like Second Life and World of Warcraft In this completely revised edition Ryan reflects on the developments that have taken place over the past fifteen years in terms of both theory and practice and focuses on the increase of narrativity in video games and its corresponding loss in experimental digital literature Following the cognitive approaches that have rehabilitated immersion as the product of fundamental processes of world construction and mental simulation she details the many forms that interactivity has taken or hopes to take in digital texts from determining the presentation of signs to affecting the level of story

An Anthropology of Puzzles Marcel Danesi, 2018-12-13 An Anthropology of Puzzles argues that the human brain is a puzzling organ which allows humans to literally solve their own problems of existence through puzzle format Noting the presence of puzzles everywhere in everyday life Marcel Danesi looks at puzzles in society since the dawn of history showing how their presence has guided large sections of human history from discoveries in mathematics to disquisitions in philosophy Danesi examines the cognitive processes that are involved in puzzle making and solving and connects them to the actual physical manifestations of classic puzzles Building on a concept of puzzles as based on Jungian archetypes such as the river crossing image the path metaphor and the journey Danesi suggests this could be one way to understand the public fascination with puzzles As well as drawing on underlying mental archetypes the act of solving puzzles also provides an outlet to move beyond biological evolution and

Danesi shows that puzzles could be the product of the same basic neural mechanism that produces language and culture
Finally Danesi explores how understanding puzzles can be a new way of understanding our human culture
