Travelling in Different Skins Dúnlaith Bird, 2012-07-05 Dúnlaith Bird argues that vagabondage a physical and textual elaboration of gender identity in motion emerges as a totemic concept in European women's travel writing from 1850 For travellers including Olympe Audouard Isabella Bird Isabelle Eberhardt and Freya Stark vagabondage is a means of pushing out the physical geographical and textual parameters by which women are defined Travelling in Different Skins explores the negotiations of European women travel writers from 1850-1950 within the traditionally male oriented discourses of colonialism and Orientalism Moving from historical overview to close textual reading it traces a complex web of tacit collusion and gleeful defiance These women improvise access to the highly gendered imaginative geography of the Orient Tactics including cross dressing commerciality and the effacement of their male companions are used to carve out a space for their unconventional and often sexually hybrid constructions Using a composite theoretical basis of the later critical work of Judith Butler and Edward Said this comparative study of British and French colonial empires and gender norms draws out the nuances in these travellers constructions of gender identity Women travel writers are shown to play an important role in the legacy of sexual experimentation and self creation in the Orient traditionally associated with male writers including Gide and Pierre Loti and now ripe for critical re evaluation This study demonstrates how these women use lived experiences of restriction and negotiation to elaborate advanced theories of motion and gender construction

The New Yorker , 2006 African Journey Tony Gaston, 2019-10-15 Fresh out of university in 1968 Tony Gaston set out to explore for birds in the Ahaggar Mountains of the central Sahara Without a map or compass he continued south to Niger and westwards to Liberia and Sierra Leone traveling on trucks and buses and on foot through countries just emerging from colonialism He carried little more than a sleeping bag a teapot and a pair of binoculars to pursue his passion for birdwatching and relied on his wits and the kindness of strangers to help him along He encountered many extraordinary people on the way including Peace Corps volunteers and missionaries policemen and prostitutes

barkeepers and beggars whose stories mix with his own and give shape to his adventures On the fiftieth anniversary of his trip Tony casts a quizzical gaze on the past and its characters forming a reminiscence of youth in the gentler era of the 1960s Drawing from his memory and written records this tale explores the nature of recollection in later life and the fluid association between wealth and well being Internationale Politik ,2007 New Statesman ,2010 Book Review Index - 2009 Cumulation Dana Ferguson,2009-08 Book Review Index provides quick access to reviews of books periodicals books on tape and electronic media representing a wide range of popular academic and professional interests The up to date coverage wide scope and inclusion of citations for both newly published and older materials make Book Review Index an exceptionally useful reference tool More than 600 publications are indexed including journals and national general interest publications and newspapers Book Review Index is available in a three issue subscription covering the current year or as an annual cumulation covering the past year The Times Index ,2005 Indexes the Times and its supplements Not So Innocent Abroad Ulrike Brisson,Bernard Schweizer,2009 With its specific focus on the connections between politics travel and travel writing Not So Innocent Abroad offers a fresh approach to the study of travel literature The authors make clear that travel and travel writing are never an innocent enterprise rather journeying always occurs within political systems and travel writing either reflects the traveler's political stance includes political aspects of foreign cultures or directly or indirectly influences political decisions In contrast to most scholarly publications that primarily focus on travel literature of former colonial nations this volume includes a broader range of travelogues depicting cultures worldwide spanning from the eighteenth to the twenty first century It thus offers with its comparative approach not only a geographically wide selection but also an historical dimension to the political aspects of travel writing Although most travel literature generally has followed the Horatian principle to instruct and delight the armchair traveler the authors of this volume clearly address the broader political implications of travel and travel writing within networks of naked politics such as international or interior conflicts emigration laws or national propaganda They also reveal how insidiously political messages are dissimulated through travel writing Talking Book Topics ,2008-05 Public Library Catalog ,2004 The New York Times Magazine ,2006
