Stained Glass of the Middle Ages in England and France Hugh Arnold, 2014-03-14 The Cathedral verger conducting his flock of tourists round the building while giving them plenty of really interesting and valuable information about it for the verger of to day is a different man from his predecessor and is often very intelligent and well informed remarks briefly The glass is of the thirteenth century or fourteenth or fifteenth as the case may be the procession gazes carelessly at it and passes on Yet from out of that dazzling and glowing labyrinth of coloured jewels a past age is speaking far more articulately if one stops to unravel the message than ever in stone or wood and it is for those who can be induced to take that second look which will be followed by a third and a fourth and many more that I have written this book

The Medieval Stained Glass of Merton College, Oxford Tim Ayers, 2013-01-01 This is the first full study of the important medieval stained glass of Merton College Oxford The scheme in the chapel is exceptionally well preserved with the nave of York Minster it represents the largest surviving set of early fourteenth century windows in Britain Research for this volume in the rich college archives has provided a new date for them and identified the glazier whose business is considered locally Outstanding early fifteenth century panels from the transepts are attributed to the workshop of Thomas Glazier who had worked for William of Wykeham Chancellor of England Seven windows in the Old Library contain the earliest glazing to survive from any English library The glass will therefore be of interest to many students of English medieval art and architecture A general introduction also explores the potential of the monument for study within a university context Merton was a model for the self governing graduate college of the later middle ages in England The glass invites consideration of the relationship between art and ideas in a lost astrological window for example and the self presentation of the scholar and college communities both to themselves and to the society that supported them As a result of the central place of the universities in national life the Merton glass was an inspiration during the Gothic revival to artists and glazing businesses such as the Pre Raphaelite John Everett Millais and Morris Marshall Faulkner Co The medieval glass is catalogued fully illustrated and supported with restoration diagrams There are forty colour plates The post medieval glass is also catalogued
