AI System Support for Conceptual Design John E.E. Sharpe,1996 It is well known that some 85% of the resources necessary to design and bring to market a product are committed by decisions taken in the first 10% of the design activity This together with the wish to reduce further the time to market of high quality innovative products has increased the need for computer support at the conceptual design stage of the engineering design process life style This proceedings firmly focuses on the continuing research into new uses of

Artificial Intelligence AI during the conceptual design process It shows how novel applications of AI may be integrated with aspects of solid modelling simulation optimisation and multiple criterion decision making A particular emphasis is placed on the use of AI methods in the overall design of products from major Civil Engineering structures to Consumer Electronics

Christophe Kolb, Jan Rosen, 2026-03-10 Now that AI has a will it s up to us to find a way For decades we built software that did what it was told and nothing else Agentic AI breaks this bargain systems that remember reason and pursue goals They arrive less like code and more like colleagues tireless fast and like any new hire occasionally in need of supervision In Cognitive Kin Christophe Kolb and Jan Rosen map the threshold where artificial intelligence stops being a feature and becomes a workforce Drawing on firsthand experience at the frontier of agentic AI they show how digital labor becomes viable why org charts give way to networks of intent and how leadership shifts to orchestration They translate the machinery memory feedback loops tool use into plain language then follow the shockwave into strategy culture and governance This isn t tomorrow s speculation It s a present tense transition that is reshaping the meaning of work and creating new sources of value The advantage will belong to firms that learn to think with thinking things working alongside intelligent systems without outsourcing judgment meaning or responsibility National 4-H Club News, 1953 American Machinist, 1892 The Aeroplane, 1919
