Performance of Manufacturing Firms in Africa Hinh T. Dinh,George R. G. Clarke,2012-08-21 Performance of Manufacturing Firms in Africa An Empirical Analysis sheds light on the characteristics of formal and informal manufacturing firms in Africa by comparing these firms with firms in other regions Drawing on two data sources the authors find that there is a very low share of manufacturing in GDP in Africa and in African exports Most African manufacturing firms are informal perhaps because the enforcement of registration and licensing regulations is not strict These firms are also smaller than firms in other regions and few export Labor productivity is low in Africa relative to other regions but this may be because of the more challenging environment with the lack of physical infrastructure the heavy burden of business regulation and other issues However after accounting for these differences the authors find that firms in Sub Saharan Africa appear more not less productive than firms elsewhere This analysis suggests that improving the business environment might allow firms to enhance their performance However given the pervasive distortions in the business environment and the limited resources at the disposal of most African countries Africa cannot and should not wait until the business environment becomes healthier before growing a more viable manufacturing sector Performance of Manufacturing Firms in Africa An Empirical Analysis shows that binding constraints vary by country by sector and by firm size Therefore countries should identify the constraints in the most promising sectors and adopt policies designed specifically to remove these constraints The evidence in this book overwhelmingly dispels the false notion of Africa s inability to compete globally in manufacturing goods This book will be of interest to economists policy makers and government officials working to improve manufacturing firm performance in Africa

Italy and Germany as Prototypes of the Peripheral and Core Countries in the European Monetary Union Nicola Acocella,24-11-07 This book looks at Italy and Germany as prototypes of the peripheral and core countries in the European Monetary Union EMU and examines their respective faults It also analyses the context of the European Union EU institutions their origin the forces that drove away from a more balanced or federalist one and shortcomings This offers the opportunity to suggest some changes to EU structures particularly in the light of the COVID 19 pandemic and its aftermath Both Germany Italy and other EU countries have violated European rules However despite this the negative performance of the EMU has to be connected to its deflationary and unbalanced institutions These were driven away from the federalist route that they seemed to be initially following by a Franco German axis and by a decisive German switch towards a tough monetary regime

The General Theory and Keynes for the 21st Century Sheila Dow,Jesper Jespersen,Geoff Tily,2018-07-27 This book is devoted to the lasting impact of The General Theory and Keynes s thought on macroeconomic theory methodology and its relevance for understanding the post crisis challenges of the 21st Century A number of contributions take their departure from Keynes s presentation during the 1930 s of his new macroeconomic understanding and its policy implications Other chapters take a more pluralistic view of Keynes s ideas and their importance for contemporary debates Further it is demonstrated that many textbooks often misrepresent The General Theory and therefore cannot be a reliable guide to 21st Century economic policy
