Teaching for Democracy in an Age of Economic Disparity Cory Wright-Maley, Trent Davis, 2016-07-01 Teaching for Democracy in an Age of Economic Disparity addresses the intersections between democratic education and economic inequality in American society Drawing upon well established theoretical constructs in the literature on democratic citizenship as well as recent events this volume outlines the ways in which students can not only be educated about democracy but become actively engaged in the social issues of their time The collection begins with an examination of how the confluence of capitalism and education have problematized the current model of democratic education before transitioning into discussions of how teachers can confront economic disparity both economically and civically in the classroom The authors then introduce a variety of ways in which teachers can engage and empower students civic action at all grade levels As a final component the volume explores new avenues for civic action including the use of social media for democratic engagement in schools and opportunities for critical reflection and cross cultural dialogue This book is a valuable resource for both scholars interested in the research on democratic education and practicing teachers wishing to turn their students into critical active citizens

The Contingent Object of Contemporary Art Martha Buskirk, 2005-02-18 An exploration of transformations in the nature of the art object and artistic authorship in the last four decades In this book Martha Buskirk addresses the interesting fact that since the early 1960s almost anything can and has been called art Among other practices contemporary artists have employed mass produced elements impermanent materials and appropriated imagery have incorporated performance and video and have created works through instructions carried out by others Furthermore works of art that lack traditional signs of authenticity or permanence have been embraced by institutions long devoted to the original and the permanent Buskirk begins with questions of authorship raised by minimalists use of industrial materials and methods including competing claims of ownership and artistic authorship evident in conflicts over the right to fabricate artists works Examining recent examples of appropriation she finds precedents in pop art and the early twentieth century readymade and explores the intersection of contemporary artistic copying and the system of copyrights trademarks and brand names characteristic of other forms of commodity production She also investigates the ways that connections between work and context have transformed art and institutional conventions the impact of new materials on definitions of medium the role of the document as both primary and secondary object and the significance of conceptually oriented performance work for the intersection of photography and the human body in contemporary art Buskirk explores how artists active in the 1980s and 1990s have recombined strategies of the art of the 1960s and 1970s She also shows how the mechanisms through which art is presented shape not only readings of the work but the work itself She uses her discussion of the readymade and conceptual art to explore broader issues of authorship reproduction context and temporality
