Securing Livelihoods Isabelle Hillenkamp, Frédéric Lapeyre, Andreia Lemaître, 2013-11-07 Far from the vision of popular actors in the popular economy as reactionary and archaic stubbornly resisting any move towards change this book's overall aim is to contribute to a broadening and deepening of our understanding of the logic and socio-economic practices of those operating in the informal economy. It focuses on the vulnerabilities of these participants resulting from high exposure to different risks combined with low social protection and on the interactions between vulnerability and poverty. It considers security of livelihoods as the guiding principle for multiple practices in the informal economy. Thirteen studies based on careful analyses of empirical data in different contexts in Africa, Latin America and Asia contribute to this multidisciplinary discussion. This book describes how people develop their own strategies to solve their problems through the use of interpersonal networks, associations and other community-based arrangements. Moreover, it shows that informal economy actors systematically reposition themselves vis-à-vis the State, markets, international and national policies with the aim of enhancing their economic and social security and they may do this either individually or collectively. The book emphasizes how adaptability of the informal economy can be influenced by such factors as the macroeconomic context, access to financial, technological and information resources, infrastructure, social protection schemes and the institutional environment within which adaptations occur. Case studies stress the need to reformulate questions relating to policy intervention based on a more thorough understanding of the perspective of informal economy actors. Reflective Practice for Teaching in Lifelong Learning

Ian Rushton, Martin Suter, 2012-03-16 Reflective practice is an important skill for students learning to teach in the lifelong learning sector. This book makes the case for reflective practice in post-compulsory teaching and shows how it can be used to support teachers in coping with the complexities and contingencies of practice. The book introduces a basic model of reflective practice and then explores several further models relevant to teaching in the lifelong learning sector, offering guidance on the application of each model in practice. Collaborative approaches to reflective practice are also discussed and the place of reflective practice in teachers' continuing professional development is carefully examined. Other key features of the book include clear links with the professional standards for teachers in the lifelong learning sector, discussion of the challenges and issues when engaging in reflection on practice, coverage of action research (often considered an extension of reflective practice), illustrations drawn from the authors' extensive experience in teaching.
