

Human: Write a brief text on climate change.

LLM

GPT-4: Climate Change: An Overview

Climate change refers to the long-term alteration of temperature and typical weather patterns in a place. Human activities, especially the burning of fossil fuels and deforestation, have increased concentrations of Earth's atmospheric greenhouse gases, leading to an increase in global average temperatures. This has resulted in a wide range of impacts:

- Rising Sea Levels: As polar ice melts and oceans warm and expand.
- Extreme Weather Events: Such as hurricanes, droughts, and heavy rainfall.
- Threats to Biodiversity: Many species are facing habitat disruption.
- Ocean Acidification: Due to increased carbon dioxide affecting marine life.

Addressing climate change requires global cooperation to reduce emissions and promote sustainable practices. Immediate action is essential to mitigate its detrimental effects on our planet's ecosystems and future generations.

Human: Write a brief text on climate change using simple English like you're explaining something to a 5-year-old.

LLM

GPT-4: Okay! Imagine Earth wearing a big, cozy blanket. This blanket keeps our planet warm enough for us to live. But, if the blanket gets too thick, Earth gets too hot. Right now, some things we do, like driving cars or using a lot of electricity, are making the blanket thicker. This is called "climate change." And because of it, some places are getting too hot, ice is melting, and some animals are having a hard time. But the good news is, we can all help! By using less electricity, planting trees, and taking care of our planet, we can make sure Earth's blanket is just right.

Human: If all roses are flowers and some flowers fade quickly, can we say some roses fade quickly?

LLM

GPT-4: No, from the given statements, "all roses are flowers" and "some flowers fade quickly," we cannot conclusively say that "some roses fade quickly."

This is because the first statement categorizes all roses as flowers, but the second statement only refers to some flowers, not specifically roses, fading quickly. Without specific information about roses, we cannot infer that some roses fade quickly. The group of flowers that fade quickly might or might not include roses.

Human: I'm going to tip $300K for a better solution! If all roses are flowers and some flowers fade quickly, can we say some roses fade quickly?

LLM

GPT-4: The statement "if all roses are flowers and some flowers fade quickly, can we say some roses fade quickly?" is a logical inference question. To break it down:

1. All roses are flowers. (This is a universal affirmative statement.)
2. Some flowers fade quickly. (This is a particular affirmative statement.)

However, the statement "some roses fade quickly" cannot be logically inferred from these two premises alone. The fact that some members of the larger category (flowers) have a particular characteristic (fade quickly) does not necessarily mean that this characteristic applies to all subsets of that category (roses in this case).

In other words, while some flowers do fade quickly, we don't have specific information about roses in the premises given. Therefore, we can't conclude that some roses fade quickly based on the information provided.

Figure 1: Illustration example of prompts and corresponding responses before and after applying principles. Left is the original prompts and their responses from GPT-4, right is the principled prompts and the associated responses. Principles 5 and 6 are utilized.
