The End Of Food Paul Roberts, 2009-05-06
Paul Roberts the best selling author of The End of Oil turns his attention to the modern food economy and finds that the system entrusted to meet our most basic need is failing
In this carefully researched vivid narrative Roberts lays out the stark economic realities behind modern food and shows how our system of making marketing and moving what we eat is growing less and less compatible with the billions of consumers that system was built to serve At the heart of The End of Food is a grim paradox the rise of large scale food production though it generates more food more cheaply than at any time in history has reached a point of dangerously diminishing returns Our high volume factory systems are creating new risks for food borne illness from E coli to avian flu Our high yield crops and livestock generate grain vegetables and meat of declining nutritional quality While nearly one billion people worldwide are overweight or obese the same number of people one in every seven of us can t get enough to eat In some of the hardest hit regions such as sub Saharan Africa the lack of a single nutrient vitamin A has left more than five million children permanently blind Meanwhile the shift to heavily mechanized chemically intensive farming has so compromised soil and water that it s unclear how long such output can be maintained And just as we ve begun to understand the limits of our abundance the burgeoning economies of Asia with their rising middle classes are adopting Western style meat heavy diets putting new demands on global food supplies Comprehensive in scope and full of fresh insights The End of Food presents a lucid stark vision of the future It is a call for us to make crucial decisions to help us survive the demise of food production as we know it Paul Roberts is the author of The End of Oil which was a finalist for the New York Public Library s Helen Bernstein Book Award in 2005 He has written about resource economics and politics for numerous publications including the Los Angeles Times the Washington Post Harper s Magazine and Rolling Stone and lectures frequently on business and environmental issues
