The End of Religion Kathleen McPhillips, Naomi Goldenberg, 2020-10-22. Feminist theory has enhanced and expanded the agency, influence, status, and contributions of women throughout the globe. However, feminist critical analysis has not yet examined how the assumption that religion is natural, timeless, universal, and omnipresent supports sexist and race-based oppression. This book proposes radical new thinking about religion in order to better comprehend and confront the systematic disempowerment of women and marginalized groups. Utilising feminist and post-colonial analysis of access, equity, and violence, contributors draw on recent critical theory to collapse accepted boundaries between religion and secularity with the aim of understanding that religion is a technology of governance in its function, meaning, and history. The volume includes case studies focusing on how the category of religion is deployed to perpetuate male hegemony and racist inequities in Australia, Mexico, the United States, Britain, and Canada. This trenchant feminist critique and academic analysis will be of key interest to scholars and students of Religion, Sociology, Political Science, and Gender Studies. The American Ecclesiastical Review Herman Joseph Heuser, 1962. The Social Teaching of the Christian Churches Ernst Troeltsch, 1931. Five Views on the Church and Politics J. General Editor Amy Black brings together five top-notch political theologians in the book, each representing one of the five key political traditions within Christianity: Anabaptist Separationist, the most limited possible Christian involvement in politics, represented by Thomas Heilke; Lutheran Paradoxical, strong separation of church and state, represented by Robert Benne; Black Church Prophetic, the church's mission is to be a voice for communal reform, represented by Bruce Fields; Reformed Transformationist, emphasizes God's sovereignty over all things, including churches and governments, represented by James K.A. Smith; Catholic Synthetic, encouragement of political participation as a means to further the common good of all people, represented by J. Brian Benestad. Each author addresses his tradition's theological distinctives, the role of government, the place of individual
