The Sustainability of Higher Education in Sub-Saharan Africa Peter Neema-Abooki, 2024-07-02 This book delves into the role of higher education as a means of sustainable development in Sub Saharan Africa Contributions from across the region examine the strategies and technological advances available to enable students to deal with an uncertain future and are organised under two key themes Curriculum and Teaching and Higher Education and Innovations The volume brings together theoretical and practical perspectives relating them to international benchmarks while maintaining the specificities of the African context It will be of interest to students and scholars as well as practitioners whose work interrogates higher education quality assurance and sustainable development goals

Legal Education in the Global Context Christopher Gane, Robin Hui Huang, 2017-05-15 This book discusses the opportunities and challenges facing legal education in the era of globalization It identifies the knowledge and skills that law students will require in order to prepare for the practice of tomorrow and explores pedagogical shifts legal education needs to make inside and outside of the classroom With contributions from leading experts on legal education from various jurisdictions across the globe the work combines theoretical depth with practical insights Seeking to understand the changing landscape of legal education in the era of globalization the contributions find that law schools can and must adopt educational strategies that at least present students with different understandings of what studying and practicing law is meant to be about They find that law schools need to offer their students choices a vision of practice that is not driven entirely by the demands of the marketplace or the needs of major international law firms Bridging the gap between theory and practice this book makes a significant contribution to the impact of globalization on legal education and how students and law schools need to adapt for the future It will be of great interest to academics and students of comparative legal studies and legal education as well as policy makers and practitioners

Pluralizing Plagiarism Rebecca Moore Howard, Amy E. Robillard, 2008 The recent cases of Doris Kearns Goodwin and Kaavya Viswanathan demonstrate that plagiarism is a hot button issue It is also pervasive occurring in universities four year colleges community colleges and secondary schools In graduate programs international classrooms and multicultural classrooms In writing centers and writing across the curriculum programs In scholarly publications and the popular media How do we understand a literacy practice that is simultaneously so abhorred and so present in the lives of both beginning and advanced writers students and Pulitzer Prize winners Pluralizing Plagiarism offers multiple answers to this question answers that insist on taking into account the rhetorical situations in which plagiarism occurs While most scholarly publications on plagiarism mirror mass media's attempts to reduce the issue to simple black and white statements the contributors to Pluralizing Plagiarism recognize that it takes place not in universalized realms of good and bad but in specific contexts in which students' cultural backgrounds often play a role Teachers concerned about plagiarism can best address the issue in the classroom especially the first year composition classroom as part of writing pedagogy and not just as a matter for punishment and prohibition Pluralizing Plagiarism opens a productive dialogue about what is at stake in plagiarism one that approaches the topic with students rather than for or about them Leading the way toward curricular reform its contributors take student work seriously and therefore encourage teachers to take student writing and learning seriously
