Essays in Social Psychology George Herbert Mead, 2010-11-01 George H Mead 1863 1931 is a central founding figure of modern sociology comparable to Karl Marx and Max Weber Mead's early work prior to his posthumous publications that appeared after 1932 is believed to be a series of articles contemporary scholarship defines as disconnected A previously unknown never published set of galley proofs for a book of essays by Mead written between 1892 and 1910 unites these articles into a logical perspective Essays in Social Psychology Mead's first book clearly locates him within a significantly different tradition and network than documented in his posthumous volumes The discovery of this work is a major scholarly event Instead of being abstract and unemotional as some scholars argue Mead's early scholarship focuses on the significance of emotions instincts and childhood as well as political issues underlying political problems in Chicago During these early years he was involved with the emerging Laboratory Schools at the University of Chicago which was then the center of progressive education These early topics interpretations and scholarly networks are dramatically different in these writings from those of Mead as a mature scholar They demonstrate that he was clearly making a transition from psychology to social psychology at a time when the latter was in its infancy Mary Jo Deegan a world renowned Meadian scholar has comprehensively edited this volume footnoting now obscure references and authors Her introduction explains how this previously lost manuscript affects contemporary Meadian scholarship and how it reflects the city and times in which he lived Unlike the posthumous volumes assembled from lecture notes Essays in Social Psychology is the only book actually written by Mead and challenges most current scholarship on him The selections are highly readable surprisingly timely yet historically significant Psychologists sociologists and educators will find it immensely important

Social Work: the Social Psychological Approach Glynis M. Breakwell, 2012-12-06 This book was created to describe the social psychological approach SPA to the social work process It has long been asserted that social workers need to understand and use social psychology in their practice Yet the literature available to social workers has been limited There have been no texts on social psychology specifically designed for social workers Instead social workers have been presented with various forms of individual psychology and macrosociology There is however an important contribution which social psychology the study of the individual in a social context can make to the social work process This contribution is the central concern of this book Consequently the book is seen as filling a fundamental gap in the existing social work literature The structure of the book is dictated by the belief that social workers and social psychologists should collaborate in evolving a social psychological model of social work practice Such a model the result of collaboration between a social worker and a social psychologist is presented here The book is addressed not simply to teachers and students of social work but also specifically to social work practitioners and to social psychologists besides all those who deal with social work problems In addressing a wide audience it is important to establish a lingua franca social workers need to understand the basics of social psychology and social psychologists must understand the basis of social work
