Although it was drafted and passed by the European Union, the GDPR imposes obligations onto organisations anywhere so long as they collect or target data relating to people in the EU. This commentary provides a detailed examination of the individual articles of the GDPR and is an essential resource aimed at helping legal practitioners prepare for compliance. The second edition includes guidelines on the interpretation of the GDPR published by the European Data Protection Board as well as new case law by the Court of Justice of the European Union. This revised and updated edition includes a general introduction to data protection law, full text of the GDPR's articles and recitals, article by article commentary explaining the individual provisions and elements of each article.
