The Weed Flora Of Egypt:

The Weed Flora of Egypt Loutfy Boulos, M. Nabil Hadidi, 1994 A Report on the Weed Flora of the Irrigation Channels in Egypt N. Douglas Simpson, 1932 A Report on the Weed Flora of the Irrigation Channels in Egypt Norman Douglas Simpson, 1932 The Vegetation of Egypt M.A. Zahran, A.J. Willis, 2008-11-23 This book is an attempt to compile and integrate the information documented by many botanists both Egyptians and others about the vegetation of Egypt The first treatise on the flora of Egypt by Petrus Forsskal was published in 1775 Records of the Egyptian flora made during the Napoleonic expedition to Egypt 1778-1801 were provided by A.R. Delile from 1809 to 1812 Kassis 1981 The early beginning of ecological studies of the vegetation of Egypt extended to the mid nineteenth century Two traditions may be recognized The first was general exploration and survey for which one name is symbolic Georges Auguste Schweinfurth 1836-1925 a German scientist and explorer who lived in Egypt from 1863 to 1914 The second tradition was ecophysiological to explain the plant life in the dry desert The work of G. Volken 1887 remains a classic on xerophily These two traditions were maintained and expanded in further phases of ecological development associated with the establishment of the Egyptian University in 1925 now the University of Cairo The first professor of botany was the Swedish Gunnar Tackholm 1925-1929 He died young and his wife Vivi Tackholm devoted her life to studying the flora of Egypt and gave leadership and inspiration to plant taxonomists and plant ecologists in Egypt for some 50 years She died in 1978 The second professor of botany in Egypt was F.W. A Manual Flora of Egypt Reinhold Conrad Muschler, 1912 Aegypten Florenwerke Neolithikum Egypt at Its Origins Stan Hendrickx, 2004 This volume published in memory of Barbara Adams presents 57 contributions by authors from 16 different countries and contains the results of the latest research on Predynastic and Early Dynastic Egypt In addition to papers originally presented at the 2002 conference in Krakow there are the invited contributions by the friends and colleagues of Barbara Adams including several on new discoveries from and thoughts about the site of Hierakonpolis Plants and People in the African Past Anna Maria Mercuri, A. Catherine D'Andrea, Rita Fornaciari, Alexa Höhn, 2018-07-31 There is an essential connection between humans and plants cultures and environments and this is especially evident looking at the long history of the African continent This book comprising current research in archaeobotany on Africa elucidates human adaptation and innovation with respect to the exploitation of plant resources In the long term perspective climatic changes of the environment as well as human impact have posed constant challenges to the interaction between peoples and the plants growing in different countries and latitudes This book provides an insight into overview of the manifold routes people have taken in various parts Africa in order to make a decent living from the provisions of their environment by bringing together the analyses of macroscopic and microscopic plant remains with ethnographic botanical geographical and linguistic research The numerous chapters cover almost all the continent countries and were prepared by most of the scholars who study African archaeobotany i.e. the complex and composite history of plant uses and environmental transformations during the Holocene Management and Development of Agricultural and Natural Resources in Egypt's Desert Ahmed A. Elkhoully, Abdelazim Negm, 2021-05-31 This book reviews the economic potential of various natural resources found in the Egyptian deserts that could help fill the food gap in Egypt e.g. the date palm, olives and domestic animals. Bearing in mind that the entire country is subject to arid or hyperarid climatic conditions, only a small portion (3% of total area) is agriculturally productive in comparison to the dominant deserts. These aspects combined with a growing population (ca. 100 million citizens) and water resources scarcity have produced severe adverse effects on natural resource utilization. This book presents innovative methods for addressing desert soil's key problems: soil erosion, salinity, pollution, decreased fertility, minerals and weed and pest control. Its goal is to help authorities reclaim the desert and optimally utilize the minerals and the available natural resources to support the sustainability agenda 2030. Besides, it offers researchers guidance on remaining gaps and future research directions. Lastly and importantly, it provides essential information on investment opportunities in desert cultivation, such as the fields of food, fodder and medicinal plants.

Windows on the African Past Ahmed G. Fahmy, Stefanie Kahlheber, A. Catherine D'Andrea, 2011 Archaeobotany has significantly increased our knowledge of the relationships between humans and plants throughout the ages. As is amply illustrated in this volume, botanical remains preserved in archaeological contexts have great potential to inform us about past environments and the various methods used by ancient peoples to exploit and cultivate plants. This volume presents the proceedings of the 6th International Workshop on African Archaeobotany (IWAA) held at Helwan University in Cairo, Egypt, on 13-15 June 2009. Studies presented herein clearly illustrate that African archaeobotany is a dynamic field with many advances in techniques and important case studies presented since the first meeting of IWAA held in 1994. Authors have employed classical and new archaeobotanical techniques in addition to linguistics and ethnoarchaeology to increase our knowledge about the role of plants in ancient African societies. This book covers a wide range of African countries, including Egypt, Ethiopia, Libya, Nigeria, South Africa, and the Canary Islands. It is of interest to archaeobotanists, archaeologists, historians, linguists, agronomists, and plant ecologists.

Plant Responses to Hyperarid Desert Environments Monier M. Abd El-Ghani, Francisco Martín Huerta-Martínez, Liu Hongyan, Rahmatullah Qureshi, 2017-11-10 This book provides a comprehensive discussion on plant responses in hyperarid regions of Egypt, China, Mexico, and Pakistan. It describes their location, physiographic features, accidental vegetation along two transects, endangered vegetation species, human impact, and variety of plant types, e.g. climbing succulent and parasitic. Studies on biotic and abiotic interactions, plant biodiversity, and soil-plant relationships are also covered. Covering a wide range of plant conditions and adaptations, this book analyzes what happens when plants must endure very high temperatures and aridity. Plants have adapted by evolving their physical structure to store and conserve water. Examples are the absence of leaves, which reduces transpiration, and the growth of extremely long roots, allowing them to acquire moisture at or near the water table. Plants in hyperarid habitats have also made behavioral adaptations in order to survive by synchronizing with the seasons of greatest moisture and or coolest temperatures For example desert perennials remain dormant during dry periods of the year then spring to life when water becomes available The book includes many color illustrations and has extensive and up to date references for further reading Systematics and Geography of Plants ,2004 Egyptian Journal of Botany ,2001 FFG ,1998 The Agriculture of Egypt G. M. Craig,1993 Egypt has one of the oldest and most productive agricultural systems in world yet it has become one of the world s largest food importers Today as the Egyptian government undertakes a major agricultural reform program the lessons of its past practices and current development need to be shared with the rest of the world This text written by Egyptian agricultural experts and other specialists provides a comprehensive introduction and reference to Egypt s agricultural practices from their earliest origins through the 1990s Topics range from the country s environmental history to shifting population dynamics to changing governmental and economic structures Detailed descriptions of agricultural production and development in the northern Littoral region the Delta middle and upper Egypt and the deserts are also provided Written for agronomists historians of the Middle East and students and policy makers specializing in third world development and agricultural systems this work is an indispensable guide to the region s agricultural history and conventions Egypt, Subject Catalogue Dār al-Kutub al-Miṣrīyah,1957 Egypt Ragai N. Makar,1988 The Comprehensive Guide to the Wild Flowers of the United Arab Emirates Marycke Jongbloed,2003 For non experts the book describes 550 plants in detail and another 205 species in brief Contains over 1500 color photographs a number of drawings and 550 maps showing plant distributions with the U A E The scientific index lists 755 local species in 81 families The Cumulative Book Index ,1930 Annales Botanici Fennici ,1973 The Journal of Egyptian Archaeology Frederick George Walker,1988
