Just War Theory

Just War Theory is a set of principles that must be satisfied before engaging in war.

- The war must be a last resort when all peaceful options have been tried and failed.
- The war must have a just cause - self-defence, defend innocents, prevent attacks/terrorism.
- The war must be declared and controlled by a proper authority - not terrorists or ordinary people.
- There must be a reasonable chance for the war, such as keeping peace or enforcing the law.
- There must be a reasonable chance of success.

Just War Theory is a set of principles that must be satisfied before engaging in war.

- The war should be fought with proportionality. There should be just enough force to achieve victory over legitimate targets. Civilians should be protected.
- Unnecessary violence should not be used.
- The good which is achieved by the war must be greater than the evil which led to the war.

Arguments in support of war	Arguments against war
The possession of nuclear weapons has kept the major world powers from... Countries feel safer if they have nuclear weapons. There has been no use of nuclear weapons since 1945. It is natural for a country to try to protect its citizens. If countries use force, they should ensure that...	Their destructive power is immense and long-lasting. Even countries that have nothing to do with the war will be badly affected. They are very costly to develop and maintain. The money could be spent elsewhere. There is no effective protection against them, nor can people control who has access to them. Leads to people living in fear.

- Working groups around the world to investigate methods of conflict resolution.

- Protecting against war and violent actions in their own countries.
- Sending volunteers to areas of conflict to support local peace workers.

Arguments in support of pacifism	Arguments against Pacifism
Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called children of God. Turn away from evil and do good, strive for peace with all your heart. "They shall not murder" "Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you" War is a waste of money. Money should be spent on caring for the poor and destitute. Everyone has the right to life - all life is sacred and must be treated with respect.	The aggressor has no right to life, they didn't care about the people that they have harmed. Refusal to fight makes an aggressor think they can do what they want. War defends the innocent.

PPS

Explain Jesus teaching on forgiveness.

Jesus taught his followers that they must be prepared to forgive.

Gods willing to forgive those people who are genuine about repentance e.g. Levi's sin.

The message of the Parable of the Unforgiving Servant reinforces the idea of the importance of forgiving others after receiving Gods forgiveness.

A similar message is taught in the Parable of the Lost Son.

"The world would be a better place if more people were pacifists."

It is a global issue. There would be less wars and therefore less killing and damage to buildings and resources. There would be more money to spend on education and less money spent supporting the military and buying weapons.

Pacifist methods - peaceful demonstrations, strikes, boycotts etc. - are not immediately effective.

Somehow countries would be challenged. Pacifist would not have weapons against them or better weapons, for example in the Bible. God punishes aggressors for wars to be fought. This shows that armed conflict can sometimes be justified.
