Material London, ca. 1600 Lena Cowen Orlin, 2012-10-19 Between 1500 and 1700 London grew from a minor national capital to the largest city in Europe The defining period of growth was the period from 1550 to 1650 the midpoint of which coincided with the end of Elizabeth I s reign and the height of Shakespeare s theatrical career In Material London ca 1600 Lena Cowen Orlin and a distinguished group of social intellectual urban architectural and agrarian historians archaeologists cultural anthropologists and literary critics explore the ideas structures and practices that distinguished London before the Great Fire basing their investigations on the material traces in artifacts playtexts documents graphic arts and archaeological remains In order to evoke material London ca 1600 each scholar examines a different aspect of one of the great world cities at a critical moment in Western history Several chapters give broad panoramic and authoritative views what architectural forms characterized the built city around 1600 how the public theatre established its claim on the city how London s citizens incorporated the new commercialism of their culture into their moral views Other essays offer sharply focused studies how Irish mantles were adopted as elite fashions in the hybrid culture of the court how the city authorities clashed with the church hierarchy over the building of a small bookshop how London figured in Ben Jonson s exploration of the role of the poet Although all the authors situate the material world of early modern London its objects products literatures built environment and economic practices in its broader political and cultural contexts provocative debates and exchanges remain both within and between the essays as to what constitutes material London ca 1600

Reading Matter Arthur Asa Berger, 2008-10-01 To be civilized involves among other things making using and buying objects Although speculation on the significance of objects often tends to be casual there are professionals anthropologists historians semioticians Marxists sociologists and psychologists who analyze material culture in a systematic way and attempt to elicit from it reliable information about people societies and cultures One reason that analyzing objects has been problematical for scholars is the lack of a sound methodology governing multidisciplinary research Reading Matter addresses this problem by defining a comprehensive set of methodological approaches that can be used to analyze and interpret material culture and relate it to personality and society Berger offers discussions of the main concepts found in semiotic historical anthropological psychoanalytic Marxist and sociological analysis He provides practical descriptions of the working methods of each discipline and demarcates their special areas of investigation Berger s lively discussions include a wealth of illustrative examples that help to clarify the complex and often difficult theories that underlie interpretations of material culture In the second part of his analysis Berger uses these disciplines to investigate one subject fashion and an important aspect of fashion blue jeans and what the author calls the denimization phenomenon Here he shows how different methods of reading material culture end up with different perspectives on things even when they are dealing with the same topic The author s focus is on the material culture of post literate societies and cultures both contemporary and historical This comparative approach enables the reader to trace the evolution of objects from past to present or to see how American artifacts spread to different cultures acquiring a wholly new meaning in the process Reading Matter is an important contribution to the study of popular culture and social history It will be of interest to sociologists anthropologists and cultural historians Arthur Asa Berger is professor emeritus of broadcast and electronic communication arts at San Francisco State University and series editor of Transaction s Communication and Mass Culture and Humor Studies series He is the author of many books including Manufacturing Desire and Agitpop

Biography of a Hacienda Elizabeth Terese Newman, 2014-04-17 Winner James Deetz Book Award Society for Historical Archaeology Biography of a Hacienda is a many voiced reconstruction of events leading up to the Mexican Revolution and the legacy that remains to the present day Drawing on ethnohistorical archaeological and ethnographic data Elizabeth Terese Newman creates a fascinating model of the interplay between the great events of the Revolution and the lives of everyday people In 1910 the Mexican Revolution erupted out of a century of tension surrounding land ownership and control over labor During the previous century the elite ruling classes acquired ever increasingly large tracts of land while peasants saw their subsistence and community independence vanish Rural working conditions became so oppressive that many resorted to armed rebellion After the war new efforts were made to promote agrarian reform and many of Mexico s rural poor were awarded the land they had farmed for generations Weaving together fiction memoir and data from her fieldwork Newman reconstructs life at the Hacienda San Miguel Acocotla a site located near a remote village in the Valley of Atlixco Puebla Mexico Exploring people s daily lives and how they affected the buildup to the Revolution and subsequent agrarian reforms the author draws on nearly a decade of interdisciplinary study of the Hacienda Acocotla and its descendant community Newman s archaeological research recovered information about the lives of indigenous people living and working there in the one hundred years leading up to the Mexican Revolution Newman shows how women were central to starting the revolt and she adds their voices to the master narrative Biography of a Hacienda concludes with a thoughtful discussion of the contribution of the agrarian revolution to Mexico s history and whether it has succeeded or simply transformed rural Mexico into a new global hacienda system Nineteenth-century Literature Criticism Laurie Lanzen Harris, 1981 Excerpts from criticism of the works of novelists poets playwrights short story writers and other creative writers who lived between 1800 and 1900 from the first published critical appraisals to current evaluations Capitalism and Material Life, 1400-1800 Fernand Braudel, 1973 This work is concerned with the quest for progress in daily life throughout the world between the fifteenth and eighteenth centuries Professor Braudel studies the demographic expansion that outstripped the production of goods and the many other factors that brought about the low subsistence level of the majority of people in contrast with the luxurious living standards of the wealthy and privileged few the effects of famine and plague the gradual expansion of the towns in a basically agricultural economy In this first of a two volume work deals with population staple diets throughout the world housing and clothes the spread of technology in particular sources of power communications early economies and kinds of money towns in East and West The second volume will deal with the rise and expansion of capitalism Trails Patricia Nelson Limerick, Clyde A. Milner, Charles E. Rankin, 1991 Reexamination of the role of the West in U S history and of the field of western history itself told by ten historians Empire of Things Frank Trentmann, 2016-03-29 A sweepingly detailed history of humanity's passion for the possession of objects an epic chronicle Wall Street Journal What we consume has become a central perhaps the central feature of modern life Our economies live or die by spending we increasingly define ourselves by our possessions and this ever richer lifestyle has had an extraordinary impact on our planet How have we come to live with so much stuff and how has this changed the course of history In Empire of Things Frank Trentmann unfolds the extraordinary story of our modern material world from Renaissance Italy and late Ming China to today's global economy While consumption is often portrayed as a recent American export this monumental richly detailed account shows that it is a truly international phenomenon with a much longer and more diverse history Trentmann traces the influence of trade and empire on tastes as formerly exotic goods like coffee tobacco Indian cotton and Chinese porcelain conquered the world and explores the growing demand for home furnishings fashionable clothes and convenience that transformed private and public life The nineteenth and twentieth centuries brought department stores credit cards and advertising but also the rise of the ethical shopper new generational identities and eventually the resurgence of the Asian consumer With an eye to the present and future Trentmann provides a long view on the global challenges of our relentless pursuit of more from waste and debt to stress and inequality A masterpiece of research and storytelling Empire of Things recounts the epic history of the goods that have seduced enriched and unsettled our lives over the past six centuries Books in Print Supplement, 1985 The Western Historical Quarterly, 1989 Drugs and the World Axel Klein, 2008-11-15 The use and misuse of psychoactive substances is one of the most widely discussed and yet least understood social processes It is easy to condemn the use of illicit drugs as well as alcohol and tobacco as problems that require the services of professionals and the retribution of the state Sight has been lost of the contributions that drugs have played in society and culture and the key role they play in ritual religion and possibly human evolution Drugs and the World restores the constructive aspect of drug use to the discussion and reviews the policies and interventions that make up the contemporary web of drug controls BOOK JACKET
