1. What is the managed and unmanaged code in .net?

Answer: The .NET Framework provides a run-time environment called the Common Language Runtime, which manages the execution of code and provides services that make the development process easier. Compilers and tools expose the runtime's functionality and enable you to write code that benefits from this managed execution environment. Code that you develop with a language compiler that targets the runtime is called managed code; it benefits from features such as cross-language integration, cross-language exception handling, enhanced security, versioning and deployment support, a simplified model for component interaction, and debugging and profiling services.

2. What are the memory-mapped files?

Answer: Memory-mapped files are used to map the content of a file to the logical address of an application. It makes you able to run multiple processes on the same machine to share data with each other. To obtain a memory-mapped file object, you can use the method MemoryMappedFile.CreateFromFile(). It represents a persistent memory-mapped file from a file on disk.

3. Explain GridView control in ASP.NET?

Answer: The GridView control displays the values of a data source in a table. Each column represents a field, while each row represents a record. The GridView control supports the following features:

Binding to data source controls, such as SqlDataSource.

Built-in sort capabilities.

Built-in update and delete capabilities.

Built-in paging capabilities.

Built-in row selection capabilities.

Programmatic access to the GridView object model to dynamically set properties, handle events, and so on.

Multiple key fields.

Multiple data fields for the hyperlink columns.

Customizable appearance through themes and styles.

Creating a GridView

4. What is the difference between ASP.NET Web API and WCF?

Answer: The ASP.NET Web API is a framework that uses the HTTP services and makes it easy to provide a response to the client request. The response depends on the request of the clients. The Web API builds the HTTP services and handles the request using the HTTP protocols. The request may be GET, POST, DELETE, PUT. We can also say that ASP.NET Web API:

Is an HTTP service.

Is designed for reaching the broad range of clients.
