Abstract: This article demonstrates a task-based language teaching class in Chinese context, and it follows the three-stage TBLT framework: pre-task, task cycle and the language focus. Rationale for TBLT method, authentic teaching material and specific activities involved in the class have been explained and justified. Finally, it critically evaluates the designed lesson plan in accordance with Chinese context and indicates potential difficulties with practical consideration.

Keywords: Task-based Language Teaching, Lesson Plan, Activities, Authentic

1. Introduction

In this article, a lesson plan has been designed in accordance with TBLT (task-based language teaching) and has been evaluated from theoretical and practical perspectives. Nowadays, though TBLT has been extensively discussed and researched in literature, practically, it has been faced with a few difficulties in the process of real teaching. Due to practical limitations, for example, students and teachers are not familiar with TBLT, especially for teachers, it is hard for them to adapt the teaching material in line with TBLT. What is more, be faced with pressure of passing the exam, some students are unwilling to acclimatize themselves to the new method. Furthermore, it is highly recommended by the Ministry of Education that TBLT should be implemented in secondary school for the sake of effective teaching and teacher-student interaction. Therefore, the lesson plan designed in this article aims to provide a TBLT model in real Chinese context as a reference for English teachers and EFL teaching. Additionally, it has been critically evaluated for acknowledging some limitations of lesson plan and providing implications for further teaching and relevant study.

This article consists of two main parts: rationale and evaluation of lesson plan. Rationale provides detailed definitions of task, justification for task-based language teaching (TBLT), then follows a series of specific activities and reasons for choices of these activities. The second part evaluation covers a range of topics ranging from advantages of TBLT, evaluation of authentic material and particular activities involved in this lesson.

2. Rationale for TBLT

Numerous definitions of "task" have been provided by different scholars, and each definition has its own focus. Nunan [27] classifies "task" into pedagogical tasks (occur in classrooms) and real-world tasks or target tasks (occur beyond the classroom). Five dominant characteristics of task are summarized as follows: TBLT is meaning-focused, instead of repeating what other people say, learners are expected to produce language, has connection with real-world tasks, assessed in accordance with outcome. A large body of literature provides theoretical rationale for TBLT. Lynch and Medsker [20] advocate TBLT by providing two primary reasons: first, classroom task imitates and promotes performance in real world task. Second, drawing on SLA research, the issue of 'learnability', the developmental sequence for L2 acquisition, input and output hypothesis have provided implications and justification for TBLT. Skehan [37] pointed out that as an approach to instruction, task-based teaching is theoretically justifiable and flexible in implementation. TBLT favors implicit instruction by the way of "learning through doing activities or tasks" [31]. It is contended that TBLT provides improved and supportive conditions for developing second language ability than other approaches which relies heavily on explicit teaching on language structure [18].

Reflections on Task-Based Language Teaching Rod Ellis,2018-06-18

Task based language teaching is now a well established pedagogic approach but problematic issues remain such as whether it is appropriate for all learners and in all instructional contexts This book draws on the author s experience of working with teachers together with his knowledge of relevant research and theory to examine the key issues It proposes flexible ways in which tasks can be designed and implemented in the language classroom to address the problems that teachers often face with task based language teaching It will appeal to researchers and teachers who are interested in task based language teaching and the practical and theoretical issues involved It will also be of interest to students and researchers working in the areas of applied linguistics TESOL and second language acquisition

TBLT as a Researched Pedagogy Virginia Samuda,Kris Van den Branden,Martin Bygate,2018-10-15

Bringing together experienced classroom researchers and teacher educators from different countries where tasks are playing an influential role in language education this collected volume critically explores how TBLT research can engage with pedagogy and how TBLT pedagogy can engage with research A defining part of the TBLT project has always been a dual concern both with the nature and use of tasks in language teaching and with empirical research to guide and support classroom practitioners the two concerns suggesting a central and reciprocal relationship between research and pedagogy However this relationship has at times been unbalanced and its centrality has sometimes gone by default problems which this volume aims to address The introduction proposes criteria to improve the congruence between the research base of TBLT and the concerns and terms of reference of classroom practitioners Using a range of methodologies the individual chapters illustrate and explore different aspects of this theme The book will be of interest to all those wishing to further their understanding of and or investigate the use of TBLT in educational contexts

Individual Differences and Task-Based Language Teaching Shaofeng Li,2024-06-06

This volume consists of a collection of empirical studies and research syntheses investigating the role of individual difference ID variables in task based language teaching TBLT a pedagogical approach that emphasizes the importance of the performance of meaning oriented tasks in facilitating second language learning TBLT is subject to learner external as well as learner internal factors with the former referring to task and context related factors and the latter to ID factors pertaining to learner traits dispositions or propensities To date the research has focused primarily on learner external factors and there has been insufficient and unsystematic research on individual difference factors This volume brings centre stage this important but under researched dimension by means of a comprehensive in depth examination of the role of key ID factors in TBLT The volume integrates theory research and pedagogy by spelling out the mechanism through which IDs influence learning attainment behaviours and processes examining evidence for theoretical claims and discussing ways to apply research findings and cater to individual differences in the task based classroom

Task-based learning and teaching in young learners' EFL classrooms Kevin Salzmann,2014-05-02 Seminar paper from the year 2013 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 1 0 University of Kassel Institut f r Fremdsprachenlehr und Lernforschung course Task based learning in the EFL classroom language English abstract In modern second language teaching the role of task based learning has become a very important aspect Due to the fact that very often exercises in EFL classrooms have no clear connection to real world situations researchers and modern English teachers try to put emphasis on tasks which help learners to use the target language effectively in different situations outside the classroom This term paper has its focus on the implementation of task based learning and teaching in EFL classrooms and the way task based activities can be designed especially for young learners Based on the fact that motivation plays an important role in language learning it is also necessary to concentrate on possibilities to make the English language attractive for young learners and to help them realizing that through task based learning activities they can learn something which can be transfered to real life situations Therefore I would like to give a brief overview about task based learning in general and the way it provides effective language learning with the help of motivational tasks in order to show that in class language practice does not necessarily have to be an artificial situation With a focus on young learners I would like to concentrate on the question how to implement a task based writing activity which supports creativity and active second language use
