The New Nature of Maps John Brian Harley, 2001 Focusing on historical examples and the practices of modern cartography J B Harley 1932 1991 offers an alternative to the dominant view that Western cartography since the Renaissance has been a progressive technological scientific and objective trajectory of development This traditional view asserts that maps produce an accurate relational model of terrain and as such epitomize representational modernism which is rooted in the project of the Enlightenment in sum maps banish subjectivity from the image Accordingly cartographers have promoted a standard scientific model for their discipline one in which a mirror of nature can be projected through geometry and measurement Cartographers often mistakenly assess early maps by this modern yardstick excising from the accepted canon of mapping not only maps from the premodern era but also those from other cultures that do not match Western notions of accuracy
