Geography's Media Turn Chris Lukinbeal, Stanley D. Brunn, 2026-01-29 This edited volume examines how the arts and sciences have had to adapt engage confront and even alter research teaching and community service because of modern media The book describes how academics work with and through the media in their daily and professional lives The acceleration of changes to media in the digital age has been astounding whether due to social media web 2 0 new sensor technologies fake news or the rise of a post truth news media economy Many academics became media producers during COVID 19 having to engage in emergency remote teaching Further as academics we can no longer publish our results and expect a metered response from all entities but rather must promote and defend our work in the media and the classroom There is almost no part of academic work let alone human life that is not affected by media Many academics across the sciences and humanities now embrace the media as part of their daily practice and actively engage in media production through building podcasts and convergent media sites managing online courses and degree programs or being administrators or educators who interact with the media regularly at local national or international scales The chapters are original and written by a group of interdisciplinary junior and senior scholars from various world regions
