

7. Recursion

Recursion is a programming technique where a function calls itself to solve a problem. It is often used for tasks that can be broken down into smaller, similar sub-problems.

For example, calculating the factorial of a number:

```
def factorial(n):
    if n == 1:
        return 1
    else:
        return n * factorial(n-1)
```

Base case:

When the function reaches a base case, it stops calling itself and returns a value.

Recursion is useful for solving problems like calculating Fibonacci numbers, traversing trees, and solving puzzles like the Tower of Hanoi.

Recursion is a powerful tool, but it can be tricky to understand at first. Practice is key!
