

How does feminist criticism open up meaning in "Mrs Midas." Write an analysis of the poem including reference to the critical anthology to support your interpretation. "Mrs Midas" is a revisionism version from the female perspective of King Midas' story, an ancient Greek myth about a man who could turn everything to gold with a touch. This poem explores the sadness Mrs Midas feels in regards to not being able to feel the touch of her husband to the anguish, annoyance and disgust she has for him about his greediness. This poem is very interesting for feminist critics as there are both arguments for Mrs Midas being a strong willed person that does not let him ruin her life as she runs away and lives without him. However there is another reading that her husband controls her emotion and all she longs for is a loving husband. Right from the beginning the voice is of Mrs Midas who retells the story from her point of view. This would interest feminist critics as in literature women are sometimes voiceless or only heard behind the men however it is clear Mrs Midas has the control and is telling her story; through her humour and metaphor we are able to understand the breakdown of her marriage as well as the idea that "wealth isn't everything" in a different way that King Midas' story told this idea.

Secondly, it may be seen that Mrs Midas is challenging society's demand of "feminine behavior" as Simone de Beauvoir would put it as it she "poured a glass of wine this action shows a lack of interest in the idea that women are not meant to be drinkers. The way the poem is introduced so casually "it was late September. I'd just poured a glass of wine..." gives the impression that this is a woman who is not bound by traditional gender roles and is asserting her independence and agency. The casual introduction of the wine-pouring act suggests a woman who is comfortable with her own choices and is not concerned with societal expectations. This act of pouring wine, which is often associated with social gatherings and leisure, becomes a statement of her autonomy and her rejection of the idea that women should be passive and dependent on men.

The poem's structure and language further reinforce this theme of female empowerment. The use of the first person narrative allows Mrs Midas to tell her story in her own words, without the mediation of a male narrator. The casual, conversational tone of the poem, with its simple diction and lack of ornate language, suggests a woman who is confident and unapologetic about her choices. The poem's focus on the present moment, rather than dwelling on the past or the future, emphasizes her current state of independence and her rejection of traditional gender roles. The wine-pouring act, which is a small but significant gesture, becomes a symbol of her defiance against societal expectations and her assertion of her own identity as a woman who is not bound by traditional gender roles.

Overall, "Mrs Midas" is a powerful poem that challenges traditional gender roles and asserts the independence and agency of women. The casual introduction of the wine-pouring act, the first person narrative, and the conversational tone all contribute to a sense of female empowerment and defiance against societal expectations. The poem's focus on the present moment and its rejection of traditional gender roles make it a significant work of feminist literature.

The poem's structure and language further reinforce this theme of female empowerment. Carol Ann Duffy Criticism:

'Choosing Tough Words' Angelica Michelis, Antony Rowland, 2003 If the post of Poet Laureate was allocated on the basis of popularity Carol Ann Duffy would have been the first woman to hold this prestigious post Like Philip Larkin in his day Duffy is both a poet respected by many academics and teachers and widely read and enjoyed by children and adult readers of poetry This is the first full length collection of essays on the poetry of Carol Ann Duffy approaching and exploring her work from a variety of literary theoretical perspectives including feminism masculinity national identity and post structuralism This lively anthology situates Duffy s poems in relation to current debates about the state value and social relevance of contemporary British poetry

Contemporary British Poetry James Acheson, Romana Huk, 1996-01-01 This collection of original essays focuses on new and continuing movements in British Poetry It offers a wide ranging look at feminist working class and other poets of diverse cultural backgrounds

Criticism and Critical Theory Laxman Jogdand, 2025-09-30 This volume offers a concise yet comprehensive machine generated literature review of the multifaceted landscape of literary theory encompassing formalism structuralism modernism postmodernism psychoanalytic criticism feminism marxism ecocriticism multiculturalism and techno criticism The content is organized by the book editor with a human written introduction to each chapter It provides vital findings and discussions into reliable reference rich summaries of literary studies It comprises the fundamental studies in humanities criticism and critical theory to provide the readers with countless possibilities for further research in general and a thorough understanding of scientific analysis of the texts and theories Its scope extends beyond mere exploration of literary and practical criticism

Carol Ann Duffy Jane Dowson, 2016-05-17 This is the only monograph to consider the entire thirty year career publications and influence of Britain s first female poet laureate It outlines her impact on trends in contemporary poetry and establishes what we mean by Duffyesque concerns and techniques Discussions of her writing and activities prove how she has championed the relevance of poetry to all areas of contemporary culture and to the life of every human being Individual chapters discuss the lyrics of love loss and longing the socially motivated poems about the 1980s the female centred volumes and poems the relationship between poetry and public life and poetry and childhood and written for children The book should whet the appetite of readers who know little of Duffy s work to find out more while providing students and scholars with an in depth analysis of the poems in their contexts It draws on a wide range of critical works and includes an extensive list of further reading

Posting the Male Daniel Lea, Berthold Schoene-Harwood, 2003 The essays collected in Posting the Male examine representations of masculinity in post war and contemporary British literature focussing on the works of writers as diverse as John Osborne Joe Orton James Kelman Ian Rankin Carol Ann Duffy Alan Hollinghurst Ian McEwan Graham Swift and Jackie Kay The collection seeks to capture the current historical moment of crisis at which masculinity loses its universal transparency and becomes visible as a performative gender construct Rather than denoting just one fixed polarised point on a hierarchised axis of strictly segregated gender binaries masculinity is revealed to oscillate within a virtually limitless spectrum of gender identities characterised not by purity and self containment but by difference and alterity As the contributors demonstrate rather than a gender in crisis millennial manhood is a gender in transition Patriarchal strategies of man making are gradually being replaced by less exclusionary patterns of self identification inspired by feminism Men have begun to recognise themselves as gendered beings and as a result masculinity has been set in motion
