and Coombe's book Research Questions in Language Education and Applied Linguistics: A Reference Guide helps budding researchers take the first step and develop a solid research question. As the field of language education evolves, we need continual research to improve our instructional and assessment practices and our understanding of the learners' language learning processes. This book, with its remarkable 150 topics and 10 times the number of potential research questions, provides a wealth of ideas that will help early career researchers conduct studies that move our field forward and grow our knowledge base.

Deborah J. Short, Ph.D., Director, Academic Language Research Training, Past President, TESOL International Association, 2021-22. As a teacher in graduate programs in TESOL, I frequently come across the frustration of students at centering their research interests on a particular topic and developing research questions which are worth pursuing so as to make a contribution to the field. This frustration stems from the fact that our field is so vast and interrelated that it is often impossible to properly address all that interests them. Hence, I wholeheartedly welcome this most relevant and innovative addition to the research literature in the field of TESOL and Applied Linguistics. Coombe and Mohebbi have created a real tour de force that stands to inform budding researchers in the field for many years to come. Additionally, the cutting-edge depiction of the field and all it has to offer will, no doubt, update the research agendas of many seasoned researchers around the world. The 150 chapters are organized in a most powerful yet deceptively simple way, offering a positioning within the topic, suggesting questions that might direct inquiry, and offering a basic set of bibliographic tools to start the reader in the path towards research. What is more, the nine sections in which the chapters are organized leave no area of the field unexplored.
