Data Driven Model Learning for Engineers Guillaume Mercère, 2023-08-09 The main goal of this comprehensive textbook is to cover the core techniques required to understand some of the basic and most popular model learning algorithms available for engineers then illustrate their applicability directly with stationary time series A multi step approach is introduced for modeling time series which differs from the mainstream in the literature Singular spectrum analysis of univariate time series trend and seasonality modeling with least squares and residual analysis and modeling with ARMA models are discussed in more detail As applications of data driven model learning become widespread in society engineers need to understand its underlying principles then the skills to develop and use the resulting data driven model learning solutions After reading this book the users will have acquired the background the knowledge and confidence to i read other model learning textbooks more easily ii use linear algebra and statistics for data analysis and modeling iii explore other fields of applications where model learning from data plays a central role Thanks to numerous illustrations and simulations this textbook will appeal to undergraduate and graduate students who need a first course in data driven model learning It will also be useful for practitioners thanks to the introduction of easy to implement recipes dedicated to stationary time series model learning Only a basic familiarity with advanced calculus linear algebra and statistics is assumed making the material accessible to students at the advanced undergraduate level
