

Research Methods Exam Questions and Answers

When maximizing the internal validity of an experiment, what threats are created to external validity? >>> When maximizing internal validity, an experimenter introduces somewhat artificial circumstances that reduce external validity and the generalizability of results.

What are some threats to internal validity? >>> "History" which is the effect of common events occurring in the lives of the participants. "Maturation" is when the participant changes over the course of the observation based on things like growing older, wiser, bored, tired, etc. Testing is also a threat because previous effects of one test may alter results on subsequent tests. Example of this would be practice or familiarity with the testing protocols. (p. 24-34)

Describe the difference between internal validity and external validity. >>> Internal validity refers to the extent to which an investigation rules out or makes implausible alternative explanations of the results, whereas external validity refers to the extent to which the results of an investigation can be generalized beyond the conditions of the experiment to other populations, settings, and circumstances. (p. 24, 36)

Explain why statistical regression is a threat to internal validity and how it can be avoided. >>> Statistical regression refers to the tendency for extreme scores on any measure to revert toward the mean. If testing a participant twice and seeing an improvement the second occurs, it is difficult to know whether this is due to the treatment or the tendency for scores to become less extreme. In order to decrease this threat, one can use a control group to discern whether the changes in the two treatment conditions were any greater than changes without treatment (pg. 28-29)

To pose a threat to validity, what two conditions must be met? >>> To pose a threat to validity, the difference found as a result of the intervention must systematically vary between experimental groups or conditions. Also, that difference must be plausible and reasonably be able to explain the results. Frivolous differences are not reasonable threats to validity (p.31-32).

Reactivity of an experimental arrangement functions as a threat to external validity insofar as subjects are aware of their participation in an investigation, and thus, could act in nuanced ways. The concern to external validity is whether these results would be obtained if subjects were not aware of their participation; however, ethical protocols dictate awareness of participation. What type of investigation might be an exception to this paradigm? >>> Studies that examine records and thus may not require informed consent. Pg. 42
