Office Hours

Office hours are virtual only using Microsoft Teams on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 1-2 p.m.

Email

Students are expected to communicate professionally, using only their TCC email addresses when emailing. I cannot (legally) respond to emails from any other email address. Email messages will be responded to within 24-hours during the work week. If you ever feel confused or "behind" in the course, or if you ever feel like you're "not getting it," then email me (anytime!) and we can discuss your questions.

Required Books and Supplies

- Technical Communication by Mike Markel and Stuart A. Selber, 12th edition. While the textbook is required, you can purchase either the ebook or the physical book.
- Regular access to a computer
- Reliable internet
- Google Chrome browser.
  - Many features of Blackboard will not function correctly on a tablet or mobile device, so a computer is necessary.
- Backup device or service (flash drive, Google Drive, etc.)
- Webcam and microphone (the standard embedded cam and mic in a laptop is fine)

Course Overview

Business and Technical Writing is an intensive study of and practice in professional settings that focuses on the types of documents necessary to make decisions and take action on the job, such as proposals, reports, instructions, policies and procedures, email messages, letters, and descriptions of products and services. Students will practice individual and collaborative processes involved in the creation of ethical and efficient documents.

Course Expectations

At the completion of this course, students should know how to:

- recognize, analyze, and accommodate diverse audiences by describing writing for nonacademic audiences, purposes, and occasions
- produce documents appropriate to audience, purpose, and genre
- analyze the ethical responsibilities involved in technical communication
- locate, evaluate, and incorporate pertinent information
- develop verbal, visual, and multimedia materials as necessary, in individual and/or collaborative projects
- edit for appropriate style, including attention to word choice, sentence structure, punctuation, and spelling
- design and test documents for easy reading and navigation.
