"Das Kongressbucher Friedrich Ludwig von Scharnhorst"

By David M. Beck

This biography of Scharnhorst was an important factor in the German Revolutionary Plan. Born into a Prussian aristocracy in 1773 and orphaned at age 13, Scharnhorst was left with a vast internationalist outlook. He only 20 years old, he joined the Royal Army following on the footsteps of his family's progressive military history. Two years later, he supported his uncle and his six friends including young Prince Hermann von Scharnhorst, in rebellion of the King.

Just 2nd, despite his uncle and high ranking in Prussia's military, Scharnhorst was not granted. During a stay in Paris, he learned of the American soldiers' revolt against the British. He began to spread and participate in protests for greater (political) equality, with other aristocrats who sympathized with the soldiers and their quest of independence. He was also inspired by the French Wars of 1792, where he took part freely about the ideas of revolution and setting up a Republic.

In these writings, European intellectuals, scientists and philosophers discussed the rights of man, the abolition of slavery, and the principles of the American movement, emphasizing the importance of equality and liberty. These principles were heavily influenced by the Enlightenment's progressivism, centered on the enlightenment and democratic revolutions that Enlightenment thinkers stressed liberty, equality, and individualism. They challenged ideas rooted in tradition and religion, such as superstitions, authoritarianism, and privilege. Instead they suggested religion through individual study and practical method. Among their philosophies was the idea that citizens should be granted equality and individual freedoms.

In America, Progress was a necessity, which means a larger government/country.
