Abstract

Speaking is one of hard skill that should be mastered by students in English. In the speaking class, students faced several problems such as the learners show a low enthusiasm and motivation in speaking, afraid and shy to speak. It arises because of some factor such a low interest, material, and improper technique which apply in the class. In solving those problems, it needed an attractive teaching technique. The implementation of role-play as an appropriate teaching technique in the 21st century that can stimulate students in learning especially in speaking class can be one alternative. Role-play serve many advantages, one of them is to urge students in speaking. This study will use library research as the method for collecting the data. The findings show that role-play teaching technique strongly can improve students speaking skill in the classroom.

Introduction

As an international language, English become the most important language that mostly should be mastered by all people from different counties. Purnamawati et al. (2015). English is a language that can be used to communicate with foreigners. Especially when seeing the potential of Bali as one of the tourist attractions in Indonesia that are visited by many foreigners. This condition makes English being more important to be learned by all groups, specifically for students. The basic purpose of learning English is to use and communicate the language as a human communication tool. As a learner in learning a language, to be able to communicate correctly in English, students must be introduced to four basic skills in English, such as listening, speaking, reading, and writing.

Actually, all of those basic skills are important. However, the fact shows that in communication, speaking is the most important skill. From those four skills, speaking becomes the harder skill to be mastered. Purnamawati et al. (2015) defined speaking as an interactive process of oral communication in expressing an idea, feeling and sharing information with the other. Then, it makes English becomes a skill which important to teach to the students. As we know that the aim of studying English is to make the learner being understand and fluently in speaking. Introduce students earlier about this skill is important to make them familiar with this skill. Towards a good speaking ability, students are expected to be able in applying and using

Higher Education and Human Capital: Re/Thinking the Doctorate in America David M. Callejo Pérez, Stephen M. Fain, Judith J. Slater, 2011-10-21 This book attempts to re imagine the purpose of the doctorate which has historically been used to prepare leaders who will work to improve the sciences social and physical humanities and professions while articulating curriculum as a living shape where students faculty and institution melded in a humanist and creative process This idea seriously eroded by the explosion in doctoral degrees between the early 1970s 20 000 doctorate per year and last year to over 46 000 and an explosion in doctoral and research universities that has created a crossroads for the doctorate in America We believe the value of a doctorate is Intellectual Capital and are particularly interested in encouraging reflection as an important characteristic of a successful quality doctoral program We posit that a good doctoral experience fosters active engagement in reflection on all elements of our work the intellectual advisory and pedagogical work of faculty curricular opportunities as well as the intellectual of the doctoral candidates through an avocation that drives research and theory in our fields Specific issues raised in this edited volume include comprehensive analysis of programs rethinking evaluation and programmatic coherence doctoral degrees beyond the discipline subject and field and implications of individual identity Along with authors chapters we paid attention to encourage reflection as an important characteristic of a quality doctoral program positing that good doctoral experiences foster active engagement in reflection on all elements of the doctoral experience including program and curricular issues

personal relationships work and the creation of a community of scholars Learning French oral skills using role play as a learning strategy: The Kenyan experience Odhiambo Oduke, 2014-02-01 Role play and foreign language learning helps the learners to develop speaking skills within defined social contexts Languages are always spoken within certain defined spacio social context The learning of French as a foreign language in Kenya takes cognizance that oral skills are important to facilitate competent communication in any given language The Kenyan reality of learning oral French skills within a learning set up in Kenyan secondary schools is well presented in this text The salient challenges are also highlighted since language learning is normally not a smooth sail for the learner and for the teacher who plays a pivotal facilitation role in guiding the learner to imbibe the vital communicative skills in the language that is being taught On the whole role play is not just a language learning activity it is an activity that provides impetus which propels human development in its entire gamut of activities A conspicuous hint on the importance of role play in our daily lives is also presented in this text with some examples well presented and cited in this write up Stephen Krashen's Monitor Model on language acquisition and the Grounded Theory which helps to interpret social research findings have been used to analyze the data which was derived from the inquiry done in the Kenyan secondary schools The classical importance of role play and simulation in the learning process has been well underscored in this particular text

Some Studies the Student's English Ability in Various Schools in Riau Province Effendy Gultom, 2013 The role play component in language learning as integrated in learning oral skills in French as a foreign language in Kenyan secondary schools Odhiambo Oduke, 2013-08-30 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2013 in the subject Didactics for the subject French Pedagogy Literature Studies Atlantic International University course Role play and language learning language English abstract This thesis focuses on role play and the development of oral skills in French as a foreign language in Kenya Ideally as I have observed in this write up role play is a low input high output process The development of speaking skills in French are well enhanced using role play as a strategy cum technique to facilitate the French oral skills to Kenyan learners who have opted to study French as a foreign language The conceptual Framework which I have opted to use in this particular academic write up is Stephen Krashen's Monitor Model and the Grounded theory I have made a deliberate and elaborate focus on Krashen's comprehension input theory For one to speak s he has to get some snippets or basic aspects of the language being learnt My research findings have established that the urge to speak a language being introduced for the first time to the learner the eagerness and motivation is always there right at the immediate and initial encounter with the language With the well trained instructor or teacher the oral skills will develop well in tandem with the reading listening and writing skills The grounded theory which I have grafted together with Krashen's Monitor Model on language acquisition is well buttressed in social research Role play is social research on a linguistic perspective The numerous authorities I have quoted in this academic presentation attest that role play and language learning is an ongoing study and my research findings and display of data is a contribution towards how oral skills in language learning are acquired by using role play as a technique The restricted focus in my case is on French as a foreign language within the Kenyan context My findings and recommendations corroborate with the other researchers who have done extensive research on language learning and acquisition The speaking skill is pre dominantly the most appreciated skill among the four classical language skills Language educationists linguists and other social researchers who focus their biased research on language and its varied dynamics in our varied human societies have observed that the oral skills should be nurtured and developed side by side with the other language skills French as a foreign language in Kenya is no exception
