International Trade and Climate Change World Bank, 2007-10-15 Climate change remains a global challenge requiring international collaborative action Another area where countries have successfully committed to a long term multilateral resolution is the liberalization of international trade Integration into the world economy has proven a powerful means for countries to promote economic growth development and poverty reduction The broad objectives of the betterment of current and future human welfare are shared by both global trade and climate regimes Yet both climate and trade agendas have evolved largely independently through the years despite their mutually supporting objectives Since global emission goals and global trade objectives are shared policy objectives of most countries and nearly all of the World Bank's clients it makes sense to consider the two sets of objectives together This book is one of the first comprehensive attempts to look at the synergies between climate change and trade objectives from economic legal and institutional perspectives It addresses an important policy question how changes in trade policies and international cooperation on trade policies can help address global environmental spillovers especially GHG emissions and what the potential effects of national environmental policies that are aimed at global environmental problems might be for trade and investment It explores opportunities for aligning development and energy policies in such a way that they could stimulate production trade and investment in cleaner technology options

World Economic Outlook, April 2019 International Monetary Fund. Research Dept., 2019-04-09 After strong growth in 2017 and early 2018 global economic activity slowed notably in the second half of last year reflecting a confluence of factors affecting major economies China's growth declined following a combination of needed regulatory tightening to rein in shadow banking and an increase in trade tensions with the United States The euro area economy lost more momentum than expected as consumer and business confidence weakened and car production in Germany was disrupted by the introduction of new emission standards investment dropped in Italy as sovereign spreads widened and external demand especially from emerging Asia softened Elsewhere natural disasters hurt activity in Japan Trade tensions increasingly took a toll on business confidence and so financial market sentiment worsened with financial conditions tightening for vulnerable emerging markets in the spring of 2018 and then in advanced economies later in the year weighing on global demand Conditions have eased in 2019 as the US Federal Reserve signaled a more accommodative monetary policy stance and markets became more optimistic about a US China trade deal but they remain slightly more restrictive than in the fall

The Impact of Changes in Macroeconomic Conditions on the Agricultural Sector of Tajikistan Parviz Khakimov,2015-11-05 Since 2000 Tajikistan has experienced prominent economic growth The average rates of economic growth for the period of 2000 2012 exceed 7 percent AGENCY ON STATISTICS OF TAJIKISTAN AS TAJIKISTAN IN FIGURES 2013 The main drivers of recent growth were labour migration and remittances on the one hand and the Agricultural Sector on the other hand The number of labour migrants in 2013 constitutes 1 2 million FEDERAL MIGRATION SERVICES OF RUSSIAN FEDERATION 2014 In 2013 remittances were approximately equivalent to 4 2 billion USD RUSSIAN CENTRAL BANK 2014 thus being twice as high as the state budget and equivalent to nearly 50 percent of GDP Remittances are the second most important source of the population s income after wages and constitute 35 percent of the population s income AS INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF POPULATION IN TAJIKISTAN 2013 Global Agricultural Policy Reform and Trade Joseph Cooper,Joseph C. A Basic Needs Policy Model Arend Kouwenaar,1986 Modeling Public Policies in Latin America and the Caribbean Carlos de Miguel,2010 In an increasingly integrated world where the pace of change is accelerating policy decisions need to be taken with little hesitation However their development effectiveness requires that they are also based on solid analytical foundations Given the existence of information asymmetries and coordination failures multilateral development institutions have an opportunity to support their member countries in the assessment of policies that require complex background analysis particularly when their effects spill over beyond the border of any given country In this context the Inter American Development Bank IDB and the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean ECLAC have formed a partnership to promote a regional network of computable general equilibrium CGE modellers that facilitates the exchange of analytical findings techniques and data with the ultimate objective of better serving policy makers in policy formulation The regional meetings of CGE modellers held annually in a different country of the region have been instrumental in promoting intraregional transfer of analytical technologies and in bringing the region closer to international best practices This book includes a selection of studies discussed in past annual meetings on modelling They deal with issues such as trade policy regional integration trade in services fiscal policy the impact of food price surges and climate change are based on comparable methodologies and shed light on crucial implications of crucial policy alternatives that Latin American regional policymakers are currently facing

BOOK JACKET Eastern Europe's International Trade L. Alan Winters, Zhen Kun Wang, 1994 This book explores the questions raised by the liberalization of Eastern Europe It provides a model of world trade to assess the potential for Eastern Europe's trade growth which it shows to be very substantial Agricultural Development and Trade Liberalisation Renuka Mahadevan, John Asafu-Adjaye, 2008 This book brings empirical analysis to bear on the policy debate on the economic and environmental impacts of agricultural trade liberalisation on a small developing country represented by the island of Fiji It is timely because many African Caribbean and Pacific ACP countries are faced with challenges in the years ahead as a result of globalisation and liberalisation of world trade Some ACP countries including Fiji have already signed an interim Economic Partnership Agreement EPA with the European Union to replace the Cotonou Agreement Other future changes in the trading regime are likely to come from the eventual conclusion of the Doha Round What is lacking in the current debate is solid empirical analysis to investigate the impacts of these policy changes What little analysis has been carried out lumps developing countries into regional aggregates Thus it may be argued that these studies do not take account of the individual countries' circumstances The book focuses on the sugar industry to discuss the broad topic of agricultural reform Quantitative and qualitative methods are used to support the analysis and discussion in the areas of structural reform in the sugar and other industries as well as the effects of trade liberalisation strategies The empirical investigation is carried out using appropriate econometric techniques and a dynamic computable general equilibrium model The material is presented in such a way that the non technical reader will also benefit from the discussion which has policy making as its focus It should appeal to a wide readership including policymakers policy analysts researchers in industry and the public sector as well as postgraduate students in various fields such as agriculture and natural resources international trade and economic modelling

Economic Analysis of Policy-based Operations Richard Bolt, Franklin De Guzman, Manabu Fujimura, Cindy Houser, John Weiss, 2004-04 This study provides a systematic approach to the key dimensions of analysis in support of policy based operations Concepts presented include understanding the macroeconomic context of sector policy reforms using a macro meso micro perspective using dimensions of sector diagnosis to identify sequential binding constraints to development in a prevailing policy and institutional environment and assessing the effects of policy change Also included are examples of measuring the costs of policy change and lessons from incorporating policy change assessments into policy operation design
