Emotional Intelligence

Emotional intelligence is the ability to assess, identify and control emotions, both in oneself and in other people. A score of 40 indicates a high level of emotional intelligence. You are able to recognise, evaluate or utilize the emotions of others and of yourself very effectively and quickly to identify why people become emotional and why emotion is affecting their behaviour. When making decisions, emotions have a major impact on the decision making process, and on the final course of action.

Team working

Team working is the ability to cooperate with co-workers in order to achieve goals or objectives. A score of 42 indicates a high level of team work. You are significantly more likely to perform well in a team compared to working individually. Your performance is also enhanced when working as part of a team. When individuals begin to slack, or are overly dominant within the group, you tackle it immediately, in the interest of the group.

Empathy

Empathy is the capacity to recognise emotions that are being experienced by yourself and by other people. A score of 34 indicates a low level of empathy. You find it easier than most people to notice emotions in other people. You are also somewhat more aware of your own emotional state than many people. People are likely to recognise you as an empathetic person that is relatively in tune with their own and those of other people.

Integrity

Integrity is the concept of consistency of action, values and principles, along with one's honesty and truthfulness. A score of 39 indicates a high level of integrity. Your actions are more based on ethics and principles than most people. You are less likely to bend your principles than many people, usually opting to avoid morally questionable acts. More often than not, you express honesty and truthfulness, and it is difficult to bend the truth.
