Japan At War An Oral History :

Japan at War Haruko Taya Cook, Theodore F. Cook, 1992-01-01 Recounts the conflict and documents the huge range of experiences by Japanese soldiers laborers journalists artists musicians and women who lived through World War II Japan at War: an Oral History, (by) Haruko Taya Cook and Theodore F. Cook Haruko Taya Cook, 1992 Japan at War Haruko Taya Cook, Theodore F. Cook, 1992-10-30 This pathbreaking work of oral history captures the remarkable story of ordinary Japanese people during WW2 Takes us from the Japanese attacks on China in the 1930s to the Japanese homefront during the inhuman raids on Tokyo Hiroshima Nagasaki offering the first glimpses of how the 20th century's most violent conflict affected the lives of the Japanese population In the oral histories the authors encountered every form of response those who held to their principles those who gave in to opportunism those who controlled events as well as the many including women children who were caught up in the horrific whirlpool A monumental work of history that captures the complex range of Japanese experiences emotions Japan at War Haruko Taya Cook, Theodore F. Cook, 1995-08-01 Writing Japan's War in New Guinea Victoria Eaves-Young, 2025-10-01 Tamura Yoshikazu is destined to die on the alien shores of the New Guinea warzone Devoid of family contact perplexed by the unfamiliarity of his environment deprived of even meagre amenities and faced with the spectre of debilitating illness and starvation this solitary soldier commenced a diary in the early part of 1943 Employed in the hard labour of building airstrips he is ground down by tedium disheartened by the now dysfunctional military hierarchy consumed by grief at the meaningless deaths of comrades and stripped of any chance of being involved in an aspect of war that he considers heroic and meaningful Profoundly unsettled by all that appears to be at odds with the kokutai ideology Tamura employs strategies through the vehicle of his diary to enable him to remain committed to the pathway of death on behalf of the Emperor MacArthur's Jungle War Stephen R. Taaffe, 1998 His book tells not only how victory was gained through a combination of technology tactics and army navy cooperation but also how the New Guinea campaign exemplified the strategic differences that plagued the Pacific War since many high ranking officers considered it a diversionary tactic rather than a key offensive Japan's Imperial Army Edward J. Drea, 2009 The first comprehensive English language history of the Japanese imperial army based largely on Japanese language sources Traces the origins evolution and impact of the army as an engine of Japan's regional and global ambitions and as a catalyst for the militarization of its homeland MacArthur's Airman Thomas E. Griffith, 1998 Thomas Griffith offers a critical assessment of George C Kenney's numerous contributions to MacArthur's war efforts He depicts Kenney as a staunch proponent of airpower's ability to shape the outcome of military engagement and a commander who shared MacArthur's strategic vision Seeing History: Public History in China LI Na, 2023-11-06 When public history was imported from the United States to China around the turn of the twenty first century it was introduced as a sub field within history and has developed along that path ever since Professional historians in China even some forward looking ones see public history as merely presenting a change in the patterns of participation in history making This book offers a sharply different view It contends essentially that public history represents more than a research domain within history or within any existing discipline nor does it fit into any established narratives but rather a fundamental change of the entire process of history making in China In this process the public is prosuming history Public history makes obsolete the old structure for building and acquiring historical knowledge it challenges the old assumptions supersedes the rigid academic hierarchy and stirs the imaginations of the multitudes With an assemblage of case studies this work makes a case for a system view of public history making or public history ing and launches a concept complex public history i e public history ing as complex adaptive systems

The Sino-Japanese War and Youth Literature Minjie Chen,2016-01-22 The Sino Japanese War 1937 1945 was fought in the Asia Pacific theatre between Imperial Japan and China with the United States as the latter s major military ally An important line of investigation remains questioning how the history of this war has been passed on to post war generations consciousness and how information sources particularly those exposed to young people in their formative years shape their knowledge and bias of the conflict as well as World War II more generally This book is the first to focus on how the Sino Japanese War has been represented in non English and English sources for children and young adults As a cross cultural study and an interdisciplinary endeavour it not only examines youth orientated publications in China and the United States but also draws upon popular culture novelists memoirs and family oral narratives to make comparisons between fiction and history Chinese and American sources and published materials and private memories of the war Through quantitative narrative analysis literary and visual analysis and socio political critique it shows the dominant pattern of war stories traces chronological changes over the seven decades from 1937 to 2007 and teases out the ways in which the history of the Sino Japanese War has been constructed censored and utilized to serve shifting agendas Providing a much needed examination of public memory literary representation and popular imagination of the Sino Japanese War this book will have huge interdisciplinary appeal particularly for students and scholars of Asian history literature society and education approaches to postwar democracy In the last six decades the demands placed upon postwar democracy have shifted considerably efrom social protest through high economic growth to Japan e tm s relations in Asia eand the meanings of the war shifted with them This book unravels the political dynamics that governed the place of war memory in public life Far from reconciling with the victims of Japanese imperialism successive conservative administrations have left the memory of the war to representatives of special interests and citizen movements all of whom used war memory to further their own interests Franziska Seraphim traces the activism of five prominent civic organizations to examine the ways in which diverse organized memories have secured legitimate niches within the public sphere The history of these domestic conflicts eover the commemoration of the war dead the manipulation of national symbols the teaching of history or the articulation of relations with China and Korea eis crucial to the current discourse about apology and reconciliation in East Asia and provides essential context for the global debate on war memory
