D. V. Marsh,1987 Peter Marsh's book is the ideal reference and companion for all concerned with tendering and more importantly with tendering to win Containing a stimulating and comprehensive mix of information and advice the book provides rewarding reading for both the new entrant to the tendering scene and for those with more substantial expertise Successful tendering of course goes well beyond the basics of cost estimation and mark up The author points out for example the importance of establishing an intelligence system to provide marketing political financial and legal data on which to base a bidding decision and goes on to suggest how to implement and operate such a system If price is important when bidding so too are influence and financing The author suggests practical ways of promoting influence and in a realistic approach to the financial aspects of bidding includes an easily understandable review of current methods of financing a project Above every other consideration a tender must sell it must be both appealing and acceptable to the decision makers These criteria are taken into account when suggesting how to write a tender as a winning document While the book properly gives priority to achieving a high rate of success for bids submitted the question of submitting tenders with a high risk of failure is also discussed Finally there is a look at what the bidder needs to do following the submission of a tender and in preparation for negotiations Construction Tendering Andrew E. Cook,1991 The ability to tender successfully is vital for the survival of building firms in today's competitive environment This book sets out the skills and knowledge required by the professional builder in this key area Based throughout on the most up to date practice and including questions for discussion at the end of each chapter the book is particularly relevant to the needs of students taking examinations for the CIOB Member parts 1 and 2 It can also be used for degree diploma and post experience courses in building surveying and civil engineering and for the continuing professional development of those already working in the industry
