Time Lords and Star Cops Philip Braithwaite, 2023-05-30 British science fiction television of the 1970s and 1980s is full of Machiavellian protagonists and fatalistic endings. It presents a complex world of moral and ethical dilemmas appropriate to the emerging political landscape of Thatcherite Britain. This book analyses the science fiction series of the period including Blake's 7, Doctor Who, and Sapphire Steel alongside Britain's transition from social democracy to neoliberal economics and the premiership of Margaret Thatcher. It examines the abrupt shifts in themes and tone that these series often exhibit compared to their predecessors, highlighting comparisons to the similarly abrupt change in Britain's political landscape.

Representations of Children and Success in Asia Shih-Wen Sue Chen, Sin Wen Lau, 2022-09-28 This edited volume explores how success is conceptualized and represented in texts for young people in Asia. The essays in this collection examine how success for children relates to education, family, gender, race, class, community, and the nation. It answers the following questions: How is success for children represented in literature, cinema, and popular media? In what ways are these images grounded in the historical, political, and cultural contexts in which they are produced and consumed? How does childhood agency influence ideas about success in Asia? Highlighting the similarities and differences in how success is defined for children and young adults in Japan, South Korea, People's Republic of China, Singapore, Taiwan, Indonesia, Vietnam, and India, this volume argues that success is an important keyword in the literary and cultural study of childhood in Asia. Red Skin, White Masks Glen Sean Coulthard,2014-08-15 WINNER OF Frantz Fanon Outstanding Book from the Caribbean Philosophical Association Canadian Political Science Association s C B MacPherson Prize Studies in Political Economy Book Prize Over the past forty years recognition has become the dominant mode of negotiation and decolonization between the nation state and Indigenous nations in North America The term recognition shapes debates over Indigenous cultural distinctiveness Indigenous rights to land and self government and Indigenous peoples right to benefit from the development of their lands and resources In a work of critically engaged political theory Glen Sean Coulthard challenges recognition as a method of organizing difference and identity in liberal politics questioning the assumption that contemporary difference and past histories of destructive colonialism between the state and Indigenous peoples can be reconciled through a process of acknowledgment Beyond this Coulthard examines an alternative politics one that seeks to revalue reconstruct and redeploy Indigenous cultural practices based on self recognition rather than on seeking appreciation from the very agents of colonialism Coulthard demonstrates how a place based modification of Karl Marx s theory of primitive accumulation throws light on Indigenous state relations in settler colonial contexts and how Frantz Fanon s critique of colonial recognition shows that this relationship reproduces itself over time This framework strengthens his exploration of the ways that the politics of recognition has come to serve the interests of settler colonial power In addressing the core tenets of Indigenous resistance movements like Red Power and Idle No More Coulthard offers fresh insights into the politics of active decolonization
