America but in much of the developed world today that class is declining and a new more hierarchical society is emerging. The new class structure resembles that of Medieval times. At the apex of the new order are two classes: a reborn clerical elite, the clergy which dominates the upper part of the professional ranks, universities, media, and culture; and a new aristocracy led by tech oligarchs with unprecedented wealth and growing control of information. These two classes correspond to the old French First and Second Estates. Below these two classes lies what was once called the Third Estate. This includes the yeomanry which is made up largely of small businesspeople, minor property owners, skilled workers, and private sector oriented professionals. Ascendant for much of modern history, this class is in decline while those below them, the new Serfs, grow in numbers, a vast expanding propertyless population. The trends are mounting but we can still reverse them if people understand what is actually occurring and have the capability to oppose them.
