

CHAPTER 25 SECTION 1

1. The stock market crashed in 1929 because many people wanted to sell shares that had risen in price for long periods.

2. Money was made in the 1920s because people had more money from stock market gains and people who were making money from other sources.

3. The economy fell. There was a banking crisis in which the banks lost their money. They had invested in stocks and bonds, and when the economy fell, they had to sell their investments for less than they had paid for them.

4. Many banks closed in the late 1920s and early 1930s because they did not have any more money. The money that had been in the banks was gone because their investments had lost value. Many banks were forced to close because they had no more money. However, the banks that did not close had to sell their assets for less than they had paid for them, and they had to pay off their debts. This led to a loss of confidence in the banks and a loss of money for many people.

5. The goal of the F.D.C. was to create a system of federal deposit insurance to protect people from the loss of their money.

6. They passed laws to help people who were having trouble getting credit. They thought that government should help people who were having trouble getting credit. They passed laws to help people who were having trouble getting credit. They passed laws to help people who were having trouble getting credit.

7. They created the Social Security Administration to help people who were having trouble getting credit.
