

From 1869-1890, the Republican Congress, seeking more Republican electoral and congressional votes, admitted six new states: ND, SD, MT, WA, ID, and WY. Utah was admitted in 1896, after the Mormon Church formally banned polygamy in 1890. Many "sooners" illegally entered the Indian lands in the district of Oklahoma. On April 22, 1889, the district was opened to the public and thousands came. In 1907, Oklahoma was admitted as the "Sooner State."

The Fading Frontier

In 1890, an American frontier line was no longer evident; all the unsettled areas were now broken up by isolated pockets of settlement. Western migration may have caused urban employers to maintain high wages to discourage workers from leaving to go farm the West. Western cities grew as failed farmers, failed miners, and unhappy easterners sought fortune in cities. By 1890, the area from the Rockies to the Pacific Coast was the most urbanized region in America, measured by the percentage of people living in cities.

The Farm Becomes a Factory

High prices caused farmers to concentrate on growing single "cash" crops, such as wheat or corn, and use their profits to buy produce at the general store and manufactured goods in town. The speed of harvesting wheat dramatically increased in the 1870s by the invention of the twine binder and then in the 1890s by the combine. This mechanization of farms brought about the idea that farms were "outdoor grain factories."

Deflation Dooms the Debtor

Because Western farmers grew single crops (wheat or corn), they existed as a one-crop economy, like the southern cotton farmers. Farmers' livelihoods depended on the price of their single product, which was unpredictable and out of their control. In the late 1800s, deflation caused the relative prices of crops to decrease. Thousands of farms foreclosed, and some farmers became tenant farmers, renting instead of owning the land that they farmed.

Unhappy Farmers

In the late 1800s, poor soil and droughts forced many people to abandon their farms and towns. Farmers sold their produce to an unprotected world market, but they had to buy their manufactured equipment in a tariff-protected home market. Farmers were at the mercy of various corporations: harvester trust, the barbed-wire trust, the fertilizer trust, railroad trust. Farmers made up half the population in 1890, but they failed to organize until they were forced to do so by the federal government 50 years later.

Lies My Teacher Told Me James W. Loewen, 2018-07-17 Every teacher every student of history every citizen should read this book It is both a refreshing antidote to what has passed for history in our educational system and a one volume education in itself Howard Zinn A new edition of the national bestseller and American Book Award winner with a new preface by the author Since its first publication in 1995 Lies My Teacher Told Me has become one of the most important and successful history books of our time Having sold nearly two million copies the book also won an American Book Award and the Oliver Cromwell Cox Award for Distinguished Anti Racist Scholarship and was heralded on the front page of the New York Times For this new edition Loewen has added a new preface that shows how inadequate history courses in high school help produce adult Americans who think Donald Trump can solve their problems and calls out academic historians for abandoning the concept of truth in a misguided effort to be objective

What started out as a survey of the twelve leading American history textbooks has ended up being what the San Francisco Chronicle calls an extremely convincing plea for truth in education In Lies My Teacher Told Me James W Loewen brings history alive in all its complexity and ambiguity Beginning with pre Columbian history and ranging over characters and events as diverse as Reconstruction Helen Keller the first Thanksgiving the My Lai massacre 9 11 and the Iraq War Loewen offers an eye opening critique of existing textbooks and a wonderful retelling of American history as it should and could be taught to American students
