author presents a stimulating panorama of Jung's psychology and shows how accurately it corresponds to the strange world described by twentieth century scientists in fields other than psychology. He traces the development of the concept of the archetypes of the collective unconscious from the dawn of the scientific method in the Renaissance to twentieth century mathematician Kurt Godel's proof of the limits of science. Robertson's presentation of Jung's psychology is the most complete to date, treating it as a connected whole from the early experimental studies to the final work using alchemy as a model of psychological dynamics.
